LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Weatherman Emil Kurtz today claimed a one-round knockout over an IBM weather information computer as rain began falling throughout Southern California.

The battle of the brain versus transistor began Tuesday when Kurtz, seated at the Los Angeles weather bureau, predicted an approaching storm would strike the area and might bring considerable rain.

The weather bureau computer in Washington almost flipped its switch at the forecast and said the storm would swing to the north and bypass Southern California.

"I don't think I'm smarter than the IBM, but it's in Washington and I am here," said Kurtz between showers.

TOKYO (UPI) — A shouting, singing mob of Indonesian students attacked the Dutch embassy today, shattered windows and injured three Japanese policemen who attempted to intervene. The youths were protesting the Japanese government's refusal to revoke landing rights of regular scheduled Royal Dutch Airlines flights en route to west New Guinea.

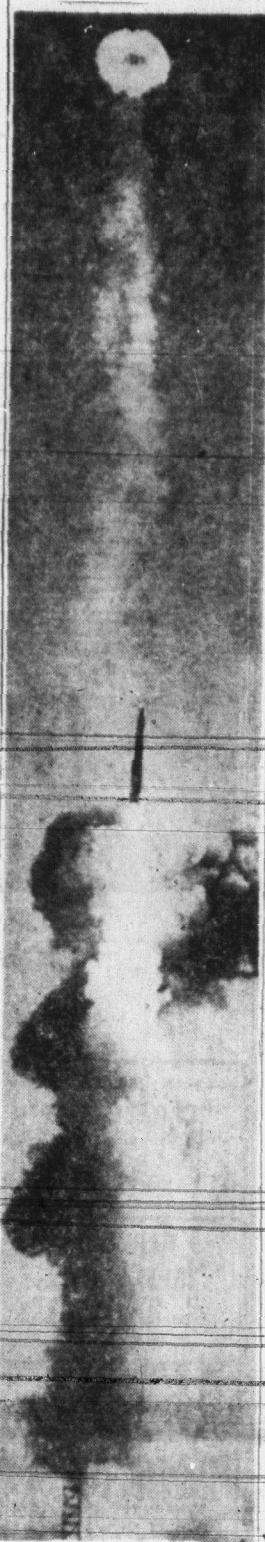

Canadian Trade Mission Going to Australia, N.Z.

OTTAWA (CP) — A 20-man trade mission representing nearly a dozen major Canadian industries will make a month-long tour of Australia and New Zealand in March and April, the trade department announced today.

It will be one of the strongest of the 22 trade missions being sent abroad by the government this year. Head of the mission is James Stewart of Toronto.

former chairman of the Canadian Bank of Commerce. The mission will leave Vancouver by air March 10 and return April 8, visiting Canberra and six main commercial centres in Australia and three in New Zealand.

Among its members are presidents or senior officers of companies in the lumber, paper, fisheries, textile, construction, steel, aluminum, electronics and chemicals industries.

Tshombe Blasts U.S. 'Financiers'

ELISABETHVILLE (Reuters) — The Katanga provincial assembly today passed a resolution-studied motion accepting the Katanga declaration to end Katanga's secession from the Congo.

The motion called on Katanga's government to approach the Leopoldville central government to arrange a peaceful solution of the nation's problems.

The motion approved the two-month-old Katanga declaration, signed by Katanga President Moïse Tshombe and Congo Premier Cyrille Adoula, only with a considerable number of conditions and reservations.

During the debate Tshombe violently attacked the United States, whose ambassador to the Congo Edmund Gullion, played a key role in bringing Tshombe and Adoula together in Kitona in December.

"Under the mask of the United Nations," charged Tshombe, "we discover the methods of the Americans, who financed and still finance war and disorders in Katanga."

The motion was drawn up by the assembly's political and foreign affairs committees after lengthy discussions with UN legal adviser Constantin Stavropoulos.

CLAIMS COPPER THREAT
Tshombe told the assembly: "The state department is in the hands of greedy financiers who will never stop their activities as long as the Congo is not a colony under their economic domination and until Katanga's copper is eliminated from world competition."

It also will include a trade union official, S. A. Stephens of Thorold, Ont., second vice-president of the International Brotherhood of Pulp, Sulphite and Paper Mill Workers (CLC).

The announcement said the mission will discuss opportunities for strengthening commercial ties with Australia and New Zealand, explore market possibilities, assess the implications of long-term growth in the economies of the two countries and gather information on special market requirements.

It will return the visit of an Australian trade mission which toured Canada in 1960.

Other members of the mission include: B. M. Hoffmeister, president, Council of British Columbia Forest Industries; G. S. Mayo, director, Commonwealth Pacific Timber Sales Limited; R. I. Nelson, vice-president, Nelson Bros. Fisheries Limited; all of Vancouver.

POLITICAL UNITY URGED FOR EUROPE

BADEN-BADEN, Germany (UPI) — West German Chancellor Adenauer and French President Charles de Gaulle warned today that Western Europe must press on to political unity because of unspecified "menacing dangers."

The conference was held under the watchful eyes of 400 riot police who patrolled the area against any attempt by Algerian extremists on de Gaulle's life.

RAILWAY ENGINEERS BACK STRIKE

MONTREAL (CP) — Engineers of Canada's two major railways have voted by more than 90 per cent for a strike, if necessary, to back contract demands, it was announced today.

No strike date was set and union spokesman O. J. Travers said the union's negotiating committee "sincerely hopes" that no strike will be necessary.

Oral Polio Vaccine Here Soon

OTTAWA (CP) — Oral polio vaccine made from live virus is expected to be licensed for manufacture in Canada within a few weeks, health department officials said today.

Barring unforeseen complications, the live-orally-taken vaccine should be available in quantity to help fight the disease before the start of the polio season in June or early July.

Health officials said recent research has resulted in the development of a method to remove a harmless impurity from the vaccine being developed in Canada.

Federal health officials are hopeful that when licences are granted that the vaccine to be produced in Canada will be for protection against the three types of poliomyelitis.

The United States last August issued licences for the manufacture of Sabin live-virus vaccine but it is for protection against only one of the three types of polio. The American vaccine provides protection against type 1 polio which is responsible for between 60 and 70 per cent of all paralytic polio cases.

Senator Byron Horner (PC—Saskatchewan) said too much attention was being paid to the Arrow Lakes flooding. Much more land and much more valuable land was flooded in the St. Lawrence Valley by the sea-level development, and there is still a lot of good fruit land in British Columbia which has not been developed.

Historic Document

Went Into Ashcan

MONTREAL (CP) — Prime Minister Diefenbaker said Wednesday night the presence of television cameras may have robbed Canada of a major historical document.

He said the opportunity arose in 1945 when he was present at San Francisco during the drafting of the United Nations charter.

The former South African prime minister, Jan Christian Smuts, had written the first draft on the back of a cigarette package. When he presented the typed version, substantially unchanged — he threw the package in a waste basket.

"It was surely one of the world's greatest documents," said the prime minister, "and I wanted to have it badly. But the TV cameras were on us and I felt it would be undignified for a representative of Canada — and a non-smoker at that — to be televised rooting in a rubbish basket."

Mr. Diefenbaker, then a member of the Progressive Conservative opposition, was a member of the Canadian delegation at the conference.

'Reckless Flying' West Charges

BERLIN (Reuters) — Russian fighter planes buzzed Western civil and military aircraft today in what was viewed as an attempt to enforce a renewed Soviet claim to certain exclusive rights in air corridors to West Berlin.

Well-informed western sources said "the Russians were flying recklessly."

"They did aerobatics, circled around our planes in formation and definitely harassed our flights," the sources said.

A Western statement said Soviet fighter planes not only approached military and civil aircraft but flew close to planes at altitudes other than those the Russians were trying to reserve.

PROTESTS SHOOTING

Meantime, French commandant Gen. Jean Lacomme said French forces henceforth would back up West Berlin police returning fire of East German border guards. He protested to Soviet Berlin commandant Col. Andrei Soloviev against the East German fire.

The Western statement on air corridor developments said the Russians demanded exclusive use of a "block of air space" up to 7,000 feet from 9 a.m. to 1.15 p.m. local time.

It described the demand as illegal and said Russian authorities would be held responsible for the safety of Western flights, which, it said, are continuing in accordance with "agreed rules."

FRENCH TAKE PART

Lacomme's protest followed an incident two days ago when French gunboats were sent to the East German border following an exchange of shots between East and West Berlin police. There were no casualties in the exchange.

Passengers in a Pan-American airliner on the Frankfurt-Berlin route reported seeing Soviet military aircraft but the planes made no attempt to interfere with the airliner.

Protests from the United States, Britain and France against Soviet moves to restrict use of parts of the corridors were delivered in Moscow.

Sources said the protests dealt with the whole situation arising from Soviet requests that parts of the three air corridors to Berlin should be reserved at specific times for Russian planes.

The three corridors—Berlin-Hamburg in the north, Berlin-Hannover in the centre and Berlin-Frankfurt in the south—each are 20 miles wide. They remain the only communications link between Berlin and the outside world not controlled by East Germany.

Russia has asked for exclusive use of part of the corridors five times in the last week. All the requests were promptly turned down by the allies.

"This stunt," he said, "will cost the university over $100 in time and materials."

MAGMILLAN
... tragedian

STRIKE TALKS 'Old Mac' Magic Success

By ALLAN HARVEY
LONDON (CP)—An emotional performance by Prime Minister Macmillan appeared today to have eased the threat of a national rail strike.

Speaking to union leaders at Admiralty House, the prime minister recalled that he is an old railwayman himself — he used to be a director of the Great Western Railway — and as such understands the hopes and aspirations of railway workers.

He recognizes, he said, that railwaymen are among the lowest paid in industry and therefore have a special claim for consideration. But he stressed the need for sacrifice, recalling the dark days of 1940 and before that the contribution made by men of his own generation at Somme and Passchendaele during the First World War.

The newspaper account of Wednesday's meeting with the union leaders quotes one of those present as comparing the prime minister to a tragedian at the Old Vic Theatre.

OLD-MAC MAGIC

Another newspaper, The Daily Mail, says it was "that old Mac magic" that melted the hearts of the union chiefs.

Macmillan made clear that the government is standing firm on its offer of a three-per-cent wage increase, but hinted that another increase might be granted later in the year.

"An improved circumstances," he said, "it would be generally recognized that there were special factors affecting the railwaymen's case for amelioration."

The meeting is the climax of a long series of negotiations. The unions are under strong pressure from their rank and file, who haven't had an increase for two years.

The government on the other hand has staked much of its prestige on the so-called "pay pause" inaugurated by Selwyn Lloyd, chancellor of the exchequer. The pause is another name for wage restraint.

The railways, a nationalized undertaking, are losing money. Their 1961 deficit was estimated at £151,000,000.

Home In Oak Bay Damaged By Fire

An Oak Bay home was badly damaged by heat, smoke and water Wednesday when fire broke out in the basement.

Heat generated by the blaze blistered paint through the house at 2545 Orchard Avenue which is occupied by D. G. Sloan. Nobody was in the house at the time.

Basement stairs and a door were badly burned and heat smashed several windows. Total damage was estimated at $3,500.

Saanich Road Work Costing $251,000

Saanich will spend a total of $251,000 on reconstructing and improving major roads in the municipality.

Municipal engineer Neville Life said today the program includes reconstruction of three major thoroughfares and improvements to five others. The program for residential streets has not yet been completed.

The three main projects with estimated costs are: Reynolds Road, from Blenkinsop to Quadra, $92,000; Cloverdale, Quadra to Douglas, $125,000; Shelbourne, Cedar Hill Cross Road to Ruby, $29,000.

A total of $6,000 will be spent also on improving Tyn-dall from Kenmore to Hillcrest.

Minor improvements will also be carried out on Mount Douglas Cross Road, McKenzie, Mortimer and Gorge Road.

COMMISSION PROBE URGED INTO TAXES

OTTAWA (CP)—A royal commission study of Canada's tax structure, its purpose and effects, was proposed Wednesday by the legal and accounting professions.

The study would cover "the broad general objectives of our fiscal legislation" and the economic effects of taxation during the last 10 years.

The proposal was made in a joint brief by the Canadian Institute of Chartered Accountants, submitted to Finance Minister Fleming and Revenue Minister Nowlan.

Cracks Appearing In Cold War—PM

MONTREAL (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker said Wednesday night the West should agree to a heads of government meeting in Geneva if there is any indication from the Soviet bloc that such a meeting would make progress on disarmament.

The "summit" style meeting on disarmament was proposed Sunday in a note from Premier Khrushchev to the 18 nations involved in Geneva disarmament negotiations. Canada is one of them. The West has suggested foreign ministers meet first.

"Should it appear at any stage that a meeting at the heads-of-government level would facilitate further progress on disarmament, such a meeting should be held," Mr. Diefenbaker said. He was speaking to a dinner of the Temple Emanuel.

The prime minister prefaced the remarks by noting that "in recent weeks cracks have begun to appear in the cold war ice which has chilled East-West relations since May, 1960."

"These signs are always welcome, even though such Soviet initiatives must be, and are being, carefully considered by the Western powers in consultation."

The sales under the long-term agreement do not include 30,200,000 bushels of wheat and 12,000,000 bushels of barley sold early last year for cash.

This sale was negotiated before the long-term agreement, to schedule this far.

REGINA (CP)—Chief Justice A. H. Bence Wednesday dismissed an application by Dr. M. J. L. Macmillan of Regina to have the courts quash a charge of conspiracy to defraud.

WILL HE GO ALONE?

Arms Meeting Success Hinges on K's Answer

WASHINGTON (AP)—The big new disarmament conference set for Geneva March 14 appears to be in serious trouble a month before it opens.

Just how serious it is should be determined in the next week or so by Soviet Premier Khrushchev's next move in his campaign for a summit level meeting.

If Khrushchev insists on going personally to Geneva for the opening sessions, U.S. officials said today, his action will be taken here and in other Western capitals as evidence that he is concerned only with propaganda aims.

If, however, he is prepared to put off his summit proposal until a later stage, the officials said it could be taken that he is interested in making a serious start on disarmament.

In view of the speed with which the situation has developed during the last week, the expectation in government quarters here is that a new Khrushchev message to President Kennedy, Prime Minister Macmillan and other leaders involved in making preparations for the Geneva talks should be forthcoming in a few days.

EXPECTED TO GO

At the moment, U.S. officials believe there is a better than 50 per cent chance that Khrushchev will go to Geneva, even though Macmillan and Kennedy have argued against starting the talks at the summit, and Kennedy is reported to be personally determined not to go.

This estimate of Khrushchev's probable action is based, among other things, on a belief that he probably wants to sound off against the prospective new series of atmospheric nuclear weapons tests by the United States.

Kennedy made clear at his press conference Wednesday that he intends to make the final decision on atmospheric tests around the end of the month. It is widely expected that he will decide in favor of testing and that the first shots will be fired in early March, prior to the Geneva conference opening.

SUMMIT REJECTION HIT

West Insincere Pravda Charges

MOSCOW (Reuters)—The Soviet Communist party newspaper Pravda said today the Anglo-American refusal to participate in an 18-country "summit" showed the two countries did not want a solution to disarmament.

The comment followed letters handed over here Wednesday in which President Kennedy and Prime Minister Macmillan turned down a proposal by Premier Khrushchev that heads of government should open the 18-country Geneva disarmament talks in March.

Kennedy and Macmillan repeated their suggestion that the disarmament talks be opened at foreign minister level.

Pravda said the refusals by Kennedy and Macmillan to participate "can mean but one thing: A conscious desire not to seek a solution to the problems of disarmament."

The Pravda article, by political commentator Victor Mayevski, said the refusal was "an irresponsible step which cannot leave the peoples of the world undisturbed."

He said the Western position contained "all kinds of reservations which only stress the lack of serious arguments and, alas, lack of sincerity of the West."

The article claimed that "certain circles" in the West did not want to reach agreements "which could interfere with their armaments race and the piling up of nuclear weapons. "Openly they do not state this, being fearful of international public opinion. That is why they are continuing their hide-and-seek game."

Observers in Moscow believe Khrushchev may attend the Geneva disarmament conference next month despite the Anglo-American refusal to make it a heads-of-state affair.

HALIFAX (CP)—A company will be formed to buy the movie version of the 18th century British warship Bounty and operate her to promote the Nova Scotia tourist industry, it was announced Wednesday.

Rear Admiral H. F. Pullen (retired) said purchase of the Nova Scotia-built vessel from Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer would be financed by the Halifax brewery of Oland and Son Ltd. The arrangement was contingent on terms "already publicly set forth by MGM," Admiral Pullen said.

MGM's offer was to give the Bounty to any group which would sail her for a year—at the expense of the buyer—to publicize the movie "Mutiny on the Bounty," which could interfere with

The Budget Cannot Wait

THE OTTAWA REPORT THAT the government will call a snap election without introducing a budget is unfair, we hope, to Mr. Diefenbaker. Such an act of cynicism would be almost unthinkable.

Certainly the Canadian people have the right to know the truth about their own affairs before they decide whether the government should continue to manage them or not. To suppose that the government would go to the country and ask the voters to sign a blank cheque is to suppose that it has lost all sense of responsibility. Mr. Pearson is quite right, therefore, in calling for an early, pre-election budget and the government will be wise, and merely honest, to introduce it.

That the nation faces a formidable budget and the highest spending on record is indicated by Mr. Fleming's estimates. They call for ordinary expenditures of $6,276,211,594 in the fiscal year beginning April 1 as against last year's figure of $6,123,758,182. But these figures tell only part of the story.

For queer bookkeeping reasons the ordinary estimates do not include the cost of old age pensions, reckoned at about $737 millions. The government thus is planning to spend about $7 billions but even this is not the total. As in the current fiscal year, the government will add more expenditures as it goes along and introduce supplementary estimates to cover them. We are heading into a budget of far more than $7 billions on ordinary account, plus large non-budgetary costs which must be paid out of taxes, borrowings or monetary inflation.

At this time no one knows exactly what the final figures will be. And until he introduces his budget the public cannot know how Mr. Fleming proposes to finance his expenditures.

Is the budget to be balanced by a sudden growth in the nation's income and hence its revenues from existing tax rates? Is it to be balanced by higher tax rates? Or does Mr. Fleming intend to present his fifth budget of massive deficits after telling us, two years ago, that deficits must cease?

None of these questions can be answered without a budget. Until it is introduced, and the government's policy clarified, the financial community will be disturbed, and its confidence undermined by rumors of more deficit, debt and inflation. The ordinary taxpayer will not know where he stands. The government will be suspected, fairly or unfairly, of planning to steal an election without giving the public an account of their most vital business. Only a budget can end this state of confusion.

Undeclared Civil War

AMID INCREASED INDICATIONS that the French government and Moslem Algerian rebels are nearing agreement on a settlement, the non-Moslem colonials are stepping up their terrorist attacks.

The OAS (secret army) organization is determined that the De Gaulle plan for Algerian independence shall not be put into effect, since this, they say, would leave the minority of French and other races at the mercy of the native Moslem majority. By assassination, plastic bombing and other acts it is attempting to prevent any such plan. But President de Gaulle is staking his reputation and prestige and his hopes of French loyalty on his settlement plan. What now has developed in Algeria is little short of open civil war. The non-Moslem population, either through choice or fear, supports the OAS rebels. Most of the French government officials are apparently under siege conditions, the police openly co-operate with the OAS, and the organization seems able to call a crippling strike or other demonstration at will. For several hours on Wednesday, for instance, telephone communication with Paris was cut.

The people of France in general appear to support President de Gaulle. In particular they would like to see the terrible toll of lives and wealth halted. But agreement with the Moslems on an Algerian peace may merely be the trigger that sets off outright warfare by the OAS.

It appears to be a situation in which no right answer can be given; in which bombings take a toll of old and young, participant and innocent alike; in which France itself could be led into chaos. It could be much worse before it is better.

An Excellent Choice

MR. DIEFENBAKER HAS made an excellent choice in appointing Mr. Charles Ritchie as ambassador to Washington. As a career diplomat of many years in the service of his country, Mr. Ritchie has earned a very creditable record in previous posts with the External Affairs Department in Washington, London, Paris and Bonn.

He was a member of the Canadian delegation to San Francisco in 1946 when the United Nations' charter was formulated, and the post he now leaves was as Canada's permanent delegate to the U.N. Mr. Ritchie is liked in Washington and his background should serve him well as he now takes the senior appointment in what has become a delicate situation. Canada's current problems with Washington stem from our continued trade with Cuba, despite the United States trade embargo; our delay in joining the Organization of American States; and our encouragement of huge Canadian wheat sales to Communist China.

In such circumstances Mr. Diefenbaker has wisely resisted the temptation to make the ambassadorial post a reward for personal or political friendship. An expert of proven ability is required, and he has been chosen.

Mr. Ritchie will be one of a succession of fortunate selections for the Washington appointment. Mr. Arnold Heeney, whom he succeeds, has done an outstanding job which deserves the thanks of the nation, and it will be a pity if some further use cannot be made of his exceptional abilities.

More Mouths, Less Food

A GROUP OF EMINENT Americans, banded together under the name of the Hugh Moore Fund, is making a special plea to the United States administration to do something about overpopulation—for humanitarian and very practical reasons.

The group includes such distinguished people as Christian A. Herter, Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, Harry Emerson Fosdick and famous figures of university, letters and statecraft.

Their concern is twofold. They are distressed by the condition of life thrust upon millions of people in underdeveloped lands by grinding poverty. And they are disturbed by the effect these rapidly multiplying millions will have on the world.

In an open letter to President Kennedy, published in leading New York papers and The Congressional Record, they express complete sympathy with the President's foreign aid program, his unquestioned desire to help those unfortunate humans who subsist on 20 cents a day. They recognize the pool of misery formed by such people and the way it can be used to foster movements which are the antithesis of freedom.

With the world population increasing at a tremendous rate—500 million people in this decade—as a result of improved health measures which prolong life and reduce infant mortality, they point out that there is not enough food to provide adequate sustenance for everyone. More and more people are being born and continue to live under conditions which promise not better than subsistence at the 20-cents-a-day level or lower.

It is not enough, say these eminent Americans, to try to provide more aid to countries in which productivity is not keeping up with population. It is essential that populations be controlled.

"By embarking on a crash program of research with the aim of meeting the population crisis," says their letter to the President, "our government could make an enormous contribution to world peace and stability, and at the same time answer the increasing calls for help from friendly people overseas."

"There is no time to lose," the group adds, "when the tide of people is rising at a million persons a week, many of whom will not have enough to eat."

Shore Leave

FROM WASHINGTON

By WALTER LIPPMANN

Up From the Middle Ages

A HIGH order of tact will be needed to deal successfully with Mr. Khrushchev's proposal for the coming disarmament conference at Geneva. This conference opens on March 14, and Mr. Khrushchev would have all the 13 nations represented, at least in the opening round, by their heads of state. It is an embarrassing proposal because there are compelling reasons why it cannot be accepted and equally compelling reasons why the refusal must not be built up into a rebuff. For the West has a strong interest that Mr. Khrushchev should not lose face in his struggle within the Communist world.

The objection to a summit meeting of 13 heads of state is that it compounds the difficulties which attend any summit meeting, even one where there are only two heads of state. Mr. Khrushchev likes summitry because he has the power to settle questions directly. No Western statesman has such personal power, and none can agree without the approval of allies and the consent of interested groups at home.

Reluctant Summitry

We have learned to be extremely reluctant and careful about summitry. In the first place, we are afraid of personal agreements which have not been sufficiently prepared, and may turn out to be unenforceable. In the second place, we know that summitry arouses popular expectations which it is dangerous to disappoint.

There is, however, a constructive point which is raised by Mr. Khrushchev's proposal. While it is true that 13 heads of state would be a confusing crowd, so too would 18 Foreign Ministers be a confusing crowd.

Moreover, the Foreign Ministers will be dealing with a subject, disarmament, which has been chewed over for forty years and there is not much juice or taste left in it.

The question is what can Mr. Khrushchev and Mr. Kennedy do to give life and zip and meaning to what promises to be a tedious performance. Going to Geneva for a few days will not do that. Perhaps nothing will do it except the publication of some agreement, which has been negotiated secretly, which would amount to a breakthrough in this trodden field.

Weather Change

It goes without saying that no one thinks there is a breakthrough in the exchange of the two spies, in the release of Frederic Pryor, the Yale graduate student, or in an exchange of visits between Mr. Salinger and his opposite number, or in the proposed exchange of television broadcasts. But all these things and many others are signs that there is a change of weather.

If we ask ourselves what it means, I think we may say that in Soviet-American relations the crisis which has raged on and off since 1958 is dissolving into a process in which both countries are adjusting their minds to the balance of nuclear terror between them.

Thus, in Berlin for example, Moscow and Washington have both come to realize that they cannot solve the problem of Berlin by going to war. Yet for Mr. Khrushchev, Berlin was a serious problem. West Berlin was undermining Herr Ulbricht's East German Communist state. Because it was an escape hatch, it was draining off indispensable professional and skilled labor. Because it was a show window to the East Germans, it provoked an intolerable comparison.

Crisis Deflated

Mr. Khrushchev solved the greater part of his Berlin worries, not by blockading West Berlin, as Stalin had tried to do in 1948, but by sealing off East Berlin and East Germany. Since Aug. 13 there has been a deflation of the Berlin crisis.

The evolutionary process which is now under way may be said to have begun in 1953 with the death of Stalin. As I see it, the Soviet society and the Soviet government are performing modernizing themselves, and Khrushchev is identified with, has staked his career and his position on the necessity of modernization.

What lies behind this necessity? It is, as I suggested above, the recognition that we are well into the nuclear age, that war, except perhaps as indirect rubbing with guerrillas, is obsolete. This has profound consequences which none of us realizes fully as yet.

Early Phases

But there is more to the modernization than that. It is changing the character of the Soviet state—changing it from a Byzantine despotism into what might be described as a Western state in the very early phases of its development.

The Soviet economy and the Soviet society are becoming highly complex, much too complex to be run successfully by a centralized dictatorship.

The same practical circumstances which brought the West its liberty—centuries after the ideas of liberty had been defined and propounded—are present in the Soviet Union. A complex society cannot be made to work without a large measure of personal liberty and personal incentive and popular consent.

Seedlings of freedom are already visible above the Russian ground. Yet they will not soon be a forest. Although everything moves faster than it used to move, we must not forget how long it took for our free institutions to grow from their beginnings in the Middle Ages.

FROM LONDON

By PATRICK O'DONOVAN

A Little Less Glamorous

DEEPLY embedded in the British national myth, and very close to its centre, lie the railways. They are an odd thing to find as a source of national pride and reassurance. But the great years of British confidence, wealth and expansion are still often referred to as the Railway Age.

Those sober, bearded, top-hatted Victorian engineers pushed a magnificent railway system over swamps, through hills and deep into the heart of great teeming cities. Their work was a source of wonder at the time. It was not only a symptom of the pride and ambition of their age, it also made possible the realization of that now unfashionable ambition and ruthless will to win.

To be an engine-driver was until recently the summit of the ambition of almost any small British boy. The huge and handsome monsters of steel and steam hurling themselves up and down the length of the kingdom were expressions of the splendour of British engineering and this, the British believed, was something that Britain alone gave to the world; the first essential step towards industrialization, towards the personal freedom that comes from mobility; and towards the national wealth that is the reward of skill and bold enterprise.

Cast-Iron Monument

Still at the heart of most great cities in Britain, amid the scars and slums left by too rapid and too inhuman a growth, there is almost always a vast railway station, a monument in cast-iron and glass and solid stone facing that is an expression of the piety/arrogance and delight in power.

The reality today is a little less glamorous.

The British railway companies that once, like old regiments, delighted in their varied symbols and traditions, were nationalized by the Labor government as a national asset. The service provided by the British railways is not the worst in the world, but it is no longer the best. They do not pay their way, and last year they ran at a loss of £70 million.

Their workers are gravely underpaid by present standards. Many of them are from railway families who in their pride of work would not have considered any other sort of job.

But an average railway wage of just over £10 a week is well below the national average; an experienced engine driver, with responsibility for human life in his hands and the prospect of severe disciplinary action for any failure on his part, may well be earning less than a semi-skilled factory hand.

Claims Rejected

The chairman of the British Transport Commission, Dr. Richard Beeching, is known to be sympathetic to their pay claims. These were made in May last year and were rejected, though the negotiations did not end.

The government, rather curiously, intervened and told Dr. Beeching to submit the matter to arbitration—a step that is usually taken only when a deadlock has been reached.

There has been a day-long unofficial strike that brought London to a shuddering halt, and gave it the largest traffic jam in its history, and now the official union leaders are as angered as the rank and file.

In an acute and dramatic form, the plight of the railways epitomises a special British predicament. There is nothing radically or purposefully destructive in the railwaymen's demands; they simply want a larger slice of the cake which they see in the unparalleled prosperity of their country. The government's insistence that the cake, if not quite an illusion, is none the less in danger of being gobbled away, means little to them.

Old Argument

It is an old argument. Why should my trade alone be sacrificed to prevent inflation? And, on the other side, how can the country which must exist by selling competitively priced goods abroad, survive if there is to be no end to the demand for higher wages?

Of course the railways are a special case. Several countries, particularly the United States, have found it increasingly hard to make them pay under a full, free enterprise system. Some, like France, simply regard their railways as a national asset, essential for industry, tourism and strategy and run them as a public service.

The British already do this for their health and education services. This means a frank expectation of annual loss and the planning for a deficit that will be paid for as the armed forces are paid for.

The railways are the victim of an old and irrational pay-structure. Private industry can pay for the workers it requires or, as the motor car industry has, fight out the old industrial battle of claims and counter-claims and face a strike when necessary. And if they can do neither, they go bankrupt and disappear. A nationalized industry and a national necessity cannot act in this way.

Government Helped

The railway dispute is not a symptom of political unrest. There is no evidence that it is driving voters again towards the Labor Party. Very probably the public impatience over unofficial strikes has even helped the Tory government.

As is usual in industrial disputes, neither side is ready to take the public or the press very fully into their confidence. Most people know little and care less about the details of the dispute. But the dispute, still quite unresolved, contains a promise of more trouble to come. It is only one of several that now hang over Britain. And no political party shows any readiness to face the appalling problem presented by the chaotic wage scales of a country that has not got used to affluence and is not quite sure that it is here to stay. (London Observer Service)

As Our Readers See It

Face the Facts

Premier Bennett keeps saying that the majority of the people of this province are in favor of the method he used to take over the B.C. Electric Co. and support him in his trampling on the rights of the shareholders. Can he really believe this or is he just whistling in the dark?

Among my friends and acquaintances I can find none who feel that the takeover was fair. I know many people who feel that the B.C. Electric Company should have been expropriated by the government but even these people feel that there are right ways of doing things and wrong ways—and that the Premier's way (no attempt to negotiate a fair price, no right of appeal to the courts) was the wrong way. Many of these people have told me that they have written not only to their MLAs but to the Premier as well expressing in no uncertain terms their outrage. I am sure they are not alone in this and the Premier and his Sacred supporters have been deluged with mail from shareholders and non-shareholders both. But does the Premier admit this?

Why can't the Premier face up to the facts? He has blundered badly. The people of this province simply won't put up with government-authorized action and will waste no time in getting rid of such a government. If Premier Bennett wishes to find out how the people feel, there's a very easy way—let him call an election.

Let him call an election for, say, this fall and let him stand or fall on the take-over issue. The result would be interesting.

Peace Research Funds

With reference to the recent press reports on the mission of Dr. N. Z. Alcock to Victoria to raise funds for the Peace Research Institute, to be part of a Canada-wide endeavour in this respect, the statement was made that if the Peace Research Institute raised $2 million by public subscription, the federal government would match this with a grant of $2 million.

I believe the implication of this statement to be quite clear, in that, the objects of the Peace Research Institute had the backing of the government in Ottawa.

I am today in receipt of a letter from Mr. Donald Fleming, Minister of Finance, in response to my query, which reads in part:

"I am not aware of any foundation whatever for the statement that the federal government will match public subscriptions in aid of Dr. N. Z. Alcock's peace group."

Well-Rounded Tomato

Re: my letter concerning approval of the American pronunciation of "tomato" in Canadian schools (January 29, 1962).

This letter involved me in arguments with associates who do emphasize the "awe" in "tomato" and proved that human beings, like the Lilliputians of "Gulliver's Travels" sometimes are at odds with one another over sheer trifles. So, to all my good friends who broaden their "ahs" and drop their "rs" let me say that their dialect is just as cultural as any other and although it is out of place in North America, its graceful-ness cannot be ignored.

The Point Was Raised

Mrs. Colclough writes that she was unable to attend the meeting featuring the book of the Canadian Peace Research Institute but that she would like to have asked this question: "Do you intend to base your studies on the fact that Russia and Red China have announced repeatedly they intend to enslave the world?"

Dr. Norman Alcock wrote, a year ago, in his booklet "The Bridge of Reason": "Ideologically committed to converting the world to Communism, the Eastern nations find in a world authority something of a curb to their ambitions. This explains in part the frequent attempts made by them to weaken the United Nations, at a time when it should have been strengthened. Nevertheless, we must find a solution to this problem, if world government is to become a reality."

The answer to Mrs. Colclough's question is yes.

Dr. Alcock continues, "There is reason for hope. The doctrine of the inevitability of war with the capitalist world is no more." If the competition in the mass production and perfection of thermo-nuclear and other weapons is eliminated, we will be left with economic and ideological competition. It should be noted that the annual industrial production of the United States alone is three times that of the Soviet Union (in addition to the fact that the United States is far wealthier to start with) and that the Communists make laughable showings at the polls in advanced Western democracies.

Captains All

(Calgary Herald)

PRESS reports from B.C. tell of a fog which delayed a government-owned ferry service for eight hours. The captain, with what we Prairie landlubbers might regard as good sense, stayed clear of a coastline for fear of rocks and log rafts. He waited for the fog to lift.

Mr. Gagliardi says: "It won't happen again."

The minister says there was no reason for the delay. Those in peril on the sea may well be glad that the shore-based political "admiral" did not have his hand on the helm. Mr. Gagliardi who represents Kamloops, obviously feels that the fog is something that can be ruled out by man, "it shall not happen again." Damn the log booms and full speed ahead.

"The ferry is owned completely by the department of highways and there doesn't appear to be any reason for such a difficulty to arise in such a short trip as that," quoth the Kamloops Mariner.

One is filled with admiration at the courage he shows. The elements have defied the Royal Canadian Navy and forced even the mighty Cunarders to come to a full stop but Mr. Gagliardi cannot conceive of such a thing happening to a department of highways ferry boat.

... REPORTING

OTTAWA—Should we be sad, or glad, that our dollar's now worth only about 95 American cents?

The answer depends on how you look at it. Finance Minister Fleming set out last June to chop the dollar down to size, for reasons that make good economic sense, and he's succeeded so far.

But our dollar now buys less in world markets—less coffee, less sugar, less Scotch, less foreign travel, less of a thousand and one items we import from abroad. And to the extent that it buys less, we have suffered a reduction in our standard of living.

You are most unlikely to hear Fleming or any other government spokesman admit that one result of dollar depreciation is that we can't live as well as we used to. The truth isn't always good policy for wooing voters ...

It was just a year ago that James E. Coyne was preaching the need to tighten our national belt and live within our national means, and the need to beware the increasing U.S. dollar take-over of Canadian industry. Having gotten rid of Coyne in a messy forced resignation, Fleming adopted certain policies ironically similar to some that had been advocated by the former governor of the Bank of Canada.

Fleming's devaluation, at which the International Monetary Fund executive is again looking with stern asstance following the recent market weakness of our dollar, had but one aim. It was to help rectify our chronic trade deficit, in the order of a billion dollars a year, by making our exports cheaper so we could sell more goods abroad and making our imports dearer so we wouldn't buy so much from abroad.

THE LIGHTER SIDE

On the Brink

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Picture if you will, or if you can, a glass enclosed cocktail lounge overlooking the Grand Canyon.

Sort of takes your breath away, doesn't it? I mean, whoever dreamed up that idea was indubitably capable of thinking big.

Just the plain, dry, throated view from the rim of the canyon is enough to intoxicate most people. Mix a little alcohol in with the scenery and you've got something truly staggering.

The possibility of a "sunken" saloon being built in the wall of the chasm figured prominently in a House debate recently on a bill involving mineral rights in the Grand Canyon National Park.

It seems that 20 acres in the middle of the park are owned by a private company. Four of the acres are horizontal, and the other 16 are perpendicular.

The National Park Service would like very much to get title to this land. Its desire was whetted some months ago by a report that the company planned to adorn the property with a resort hotel and cocktail lounge.

The very thought of a saloon overhanging the majestic gulch was enough to give nature lovers the delirium tremens. Clearly something had to be done to head off the project.

So a plan was worked out under which the government would acquire title to the land, with the company retaining the right to mine uranium from the soil.

But when a bill authorizing the transfer reached the House floor, trouble developed in the form of Rep. John P. Saylor, a Pennsylvania Republican.

Saylor voiced suspicion that the publicized project to drink on the brink was nothing more than a figment planted in a Sunday supplement by a Madison Avenue press agent.

"They have attempted to blackmail the House of Representatives by threatening to build this monstrosity on the face of the canyon," he asserted.

Furthermore, he said, the bill would give the company rights to uranium not only in the 20 acres but in adjacent park land as well.

Rep. J. T. Rutherford, D-Tex., who managed the bill for the interior committee, conceded there may have been some "hanky-panky" on the rim. But he insisted it still was a good deal for the government.

Despite his assurances, the bill fell short of the required majority. Obviously, bar-room brinkmanship doesn't pay.

GUERRILLA ATTACKS POSE THREAT TO NEPAL KINGDOM

By Henry S. Bradsher

NEW DELHI (AP)—The Himalayan kingdom of Nepal, plagued by guerrilla attacks, seems to be drifting toward a situation similar in some ways to that in South Viet Nam.

Both countries are troubled by rebel movements inspired from across their borders.

In Nepal the guerrilla warfare is on a much smaller scale and the rebel forces are much weaker than in South Viet Nam but the legal government is weaker also.

Nepal's King Mahendra appears to lack the resources or communications to check the sporadic attacks. His enemies are former members of the parliamentary government which the king abolished Dec. 15, 1960, when he assumed personal control of Nepal. Communists have tried to join the group but the others are shunning them.

FEAR MORE ATTACKS

Some Nepalis fear an increase of guerrilla attacks and a progressive breakdown of law and order in Nepal.

Last week rebels mounted their biggest operation in the Rapti Valley, 50 miles south-west of Katmandu.

There is no evidence that the brief rebel capture of Bharatpur in the Rapti Valley could properly be called a revolt against the king's rule as some of his opponents would like to describe. Some Nepalis there possibly joined the raiders—reports are conflicting as they usually are from Nepal—but the trouble was sparked off from outside.

When the government was finally able to get troops into the area the rebels fled. But they are likely to strike again elsewhere. Previously they have raided police posts in a number of parts of southern Nepal near the Indian border.

REVERE KING

The rebels hope their demand for land reform will swing the people to them, but there is no sign that the people are in revolt against the king, whom they revere as the incarnation of the Hindu god Vishnu.

Even without a revolt the rebels will be able to continue their guerrilla raids for three reasons.

One is the general apathy of a pastoral people living in isolated communities. Another is inadequate communications in a virtually roadless state. The third is the existence of a wide-open border with India.

Chances of the rebels actually overthrowing the king at present appear small. They could, however, create such a turmoil that the king might be forced into a compromise that would restore some form of democracy in his illiterate, underdeveloped country. The king contends he is working toward democracy in his own way.

High Welfare Costs Blamed on Low Wages

MONTREAL (CP)—A University of Toronto professor Wednesday made a bitter attack on Canada's minimum wage laws and welfare benefits in a speech at the mid-winter conference of the Community Funds and Councils of Canada.

Prof. John F. Morgan, now on leave from the university's school of social work on a research grant of the Institute of Public Administration of Canada, called Canadian minimum wage laws "so inadequate as to be practically valueless."

Family allowance and relief payments are being used to "disguise inadequate standards of living," he said. "The remedy lies in higher minimum wage laws and their enforcement, not in restricting benefits rates."

He said Canada should look to the United States, which he said is attempting to find ways of preventing social and economic breakdowns.

Prof. Morgan urged reorganization of Canada's department of national health and welfare, by creation of separate ministries of health and of welfare.

Douk 'Judas' Gets 20 Years

(Compiled From Canadian Press)

NELSON — Fred Davidoff, 38-year-old convicted terrorist, was called a "Judas" by special Assize Court Judge Mr. Justice Harry Sullivan today and sentenced to 20 years in prison.

In all, Davidoff, Sons of Freedom Doukhobor and father of five, will serve 28 years. The 20-year term, invoked on Davidoff's conviction in the blowing up of government machinery at Winlaw, will be served consecutively with an eight-year term imposed earlier for bombing a railway track at Thrums in the West Kootenays.

Mr. Justice Sullivan told Davidoff he was a Judas who had betrayed others; that he was a dangerous man and should be isolated in prison and denied all visiting privileges.

Davidoff, formerly a member of the fraternal council, the ruling, policy-making body of the radical Freedomite sect.

VANCOUVER — RCMP said today John Stuetz, 21, the driver of an auto in which his blind date died Feb. 2, has been found dead of a self-inflicted gunshot wound in nearby Cloverdale.

Pamela Nancy Hennen, a 21-year-old Australian, was killed when the Stuetz auto collided with a truck on the Trans-Canada Highway near suburban Langley.

Police had been seeking Stuetz since the accident. However, officers said there was no warrant for Stuetz's arrest and no charge against him.

PRINCE GEORGE — Chamber of Commerce here has endorsed a resolution by the Associated Chambers of Commerce of Central B.C., expressing dissatisfaction at the incomplete condition of Highway 16. The chamber, in a telegram to Premier Bennett Wednesday said the government promised a finished highway as far back as 1960.

VANCOUVER — A 35-year-old mother dragged her four children from their blazing home Wednesday after one of them had started a fire in a clothes closet.

Mrs. Kathleen Gojovic saved the lives of her children, John, five; Kathleen, three; Michael, two, and Mary Ann, six months. She snatched the baby from her crib and hustled the others outside.

Five-year-old John tearfully confessed to accidentally setting fire to clothes in a clothes closet with matches.

VANCOUVER — A 45-year-old woman said Wednesday she had been a tool of Communist agents in Hong Kong and added that she feared that her husband would be killed by Communist Chinese because of her testimony.

Mrs. Li La Chen, Vancouver hotel operator charged with conspiracy to bring Chinese into Canada illegally, said in police court she became a tool of the Communists because she was fearful for the life of her husband, a political prisoner in Inner Mongolia.

Mrs. Chen said she made contact with a Hong Kong storekeeper who succeeded in smuggling three of her six children out of Communist China to Hong Kong in September, 1957. She had hoped to have him smuggle her husband out as well.

She had been warned not to speak to anyone about her activities.

She said she flew to Edmonton on instructions from a Communist agent to pick up an illegal immigrant. She accepted money from Chinese in Vancouver for smuggling their friends and relatives into Canada from Hong Kong.

But all the money had been remitted to the Communist agent in Hong Kong.

Medieval Park, Village Suggested for Gorge Area

A Vancouver entrepreneur today said he is seeking financing for a $350,000 "medieval village and park" on the Gorge as a major tourist attraction.

Milton Tisdale, who has formed Sherwood Forests

Playland Ltd., said he hopes to obtain a 20-year lease from the city on 10 acres of wooded property stretching along Gorge Road from Millgrove to Tillicum, east of the Gorge Bridge.

First phase of the project would cost $225,000, including a portable outdoor theatre, "which I visualize as a major centennial project," he said, in a telephone interview.

LACED WITH FANTASY

"The whole project would rest mainly on an authentic medieval village and a castle museum—with the Domesday Book, Magna Charta, armor suits and other replicas—but it would be laced with the fantasy story of Robin Hood," he said.

The Gorge Road entrance to the area would have a moat and drawbridge—where visitors exchanged money for special Sherwood Forest coins.

Inside the parkland would be the medieval village, outdoor theatre, millhouse and millpond, a deer park, zoo, barbecue pits for picnic parties and wharves for two Viking longboats that each could bring about 30 passengers from the Inner Harbor.

WOULD EMPLOY 50

"It isn't firmed up yet because we have to complete arrangements for financing before we can obtain a lease from the city," he said.

"But if all goes well we could have the parkland area open this July 1—the castle and village would have to be built later, and the longboats would be ready by May 24 weekend for scenic tours of the Gorge."

WOE IS ME—More-than-usual beagle sadness seems to weigh down this dog after his leg was broken by an auto in Fort Worth, Texas. A veterinarian set and splinted the leg. This sad-eyed expression was caught just before the beagle was claimed by his mistress, Martha Taylor, 13.

B.C. POWER POLICY 'CLEAR AS HEGEL'

Social Credit hydro power policies are understood like the theories of the German philosopher Hegel, Vancouver MLA Alex Macdonald said in the Legislature Wednesday.

He said the philosopher is quoted as having told a faithful disciple on his death bed: "No one understood my philosophy but you. And even you didn't."

College Forced to Drop Expanded Higher Courses

Victoria College has been forced to abandon some of its plans for expanded courses this year, because it could not get enough money from the B.C. government.

The college asked the government to boost its annual operating grant by $605,200 this year.

The government has boosted it by only $275,000.

However, vice-principal R. T. Wallace said today: "We will do the best we can."

The extra money sought was for expanded courses in upper years of study, and for new staff to meet an expected 20 to 25 per cent increase in enrolment in 1963.

TWO ELIMINATED

Mr. Wallace said that in the upper years where five courses were to be offered, the college will have to cut the choice down to three.

The present faculty will be able to handle the larger classes, but the college will not be able to hire as many new staff as originally hoped.

However, Mr. Wallace said that indications are the 1963 enrolment will not increase as much as expected because of a "leaner year" in Grade XII graduates.

'SUIT CUT TO CLOTH'

Mr. Wallace said it is possible that the college may seek an increase in its grant later in the year. But for the time being it would make the best of what it had been given.

Education Minister Leslie

Peterson said he could not foresee if a supplementary grant would later be made.

"I am sure Victoria College will get along very well," he said. "We have to cut the suit according to the cloth available."

1/2 AWAKE Nights 1/2 ASLEEP Days..

Many people never seem to get a good night's rest. They toss and turn in bed, then are dull and listless during the day. When kidneys slow down wastes and excess acids stay in the system. Disturbed rest, tired feeling and backache often follow. If you don't rest well at night—if you feel dull in the daytime—use Dodd's Kidney Pills. Then you feel better—rest better—work better. You can depend on Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Retarded Children Attention Stressed

By JACK BEST

EDMONTON (CP)—Two mental health organizations urged before the Hall royal commission on health services Wednesday that more attention be paid to the problem of emotionally disturbed children.

Both the Alberta division of the Canadian Mental Health Association and the association's Alberta southern region emphasized that recognition and treatment of emotional disturbances at an early age makes possible the development of sound adults.

They also made the point in briefs to the commission that treatment and rehabilitation of disturbed people contributes to the health of the economy, since mental and emotional conditions result in a loss of millions in production each year.

The Alberta division recommended that departments of education and health co-operate in formulating a policy on emotionally disturbed children within the school system.

"We recommend that a condition for certification of teachers being trained in normal schools or faculties of education should be a course covering the detection and referral of emotionally-disturbed children," it added. "We recommend that far wider use be made of well-trained counsellors in our school system."

The southern region brief said, if parents were able to recognize disturbance symptoms in their children, many cases might be detected in pre-school years.

If all classroom teachers were trained to detect unhealthy behavior patterns, the majority of disturbed youngsters might be spotted in the elementary grades.

A survey carried out in Edmonton indicated that about seven per cent of the school population at any given time could benefit from referral to external diagnostic services.

TODAY'S GRAIN

WINNIPEG (CP).—Prices followed an easier trend today on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange.

The flax market was affected by weakness in United States and overseas exchanges.

Rye followed the downward trend of the Chicago market, with occasional rallies from early lows.

Overnight export loadings of Canadian wheat included: Communist China 1,675,000 bushels, United Kingdom 555,000, West Germany 460,000, Philippines 80,000, Formosa 75,000, Okinawa 55,000 bushels.

Class two, TWA and domestic prices, basis Lakehead, were all up 1/2 from Wednesday's close.

BUSINESS VIEWS

Trade Chief's Optimism Questioned

By GORDON BELL
Times Business Editor

It is possible to admire the ebullience of Trade Minister Hees—who this week predicted 1962 would be the most prosperous year in Canadian history—and at the same time question the statistical basis for his prediction.

At first glance the figures Mr. Hees presented to the federal-provincial trade and industry promotion conference in Montreal seemed to reflect enormous economic growth in this country.

A closer look, however, revealed that for the most part the statistics were carefully selected. In almost every case the bases chosen by Mr. Hees were the low points of the 1960-61 period which were contrasted with the high points of the sharp recovery in the third and fourth quarters of 1961.

Mr. Hees said, for instance, that the third quarter of 1961 showed Canada's over-all production had increased 4.7 per cent from the first quarter—exceeding the rate of increase in the period for 14 out of the last 15 years.

Other increases noted by Mr. Hees—December, 1961, compared with the same month in 1960—were: steel, 37 per cent; motor vehicles, 14 per cent; textiles, 15 per cent; construction awards, 15 per cent; and manufacturing employment, 6 per cent.

Gratifying as these increases were, it seems risky, surely, to use them as absolute measures of economic growth upon which to base a prediction that 1962 will be the most prosperous year in this country's history.

Few businessmen are as sanguine as Mr. Hees about the prospects for 1962, although there is agreement that the year should prove a generally good one.

One of the main concerns to businessmen is the likelihood of a massive deficit being incurred by the government which Mr. Hees represents and its effect on the economy.

As R. T. Birks, Q.C., president of Sterling Trusts Corp., expressed the matter earlier this week at his company's annual

"The average man on the street does not share in the optimism of some that business and times are good. As he surveys 1962 he finds that municipal taxes are likely to go higher; many of life's necessities are now subject to provincial sales tax; and that the federal government's deficit of $2 million per working day must bring new taxes or an increase in national debt."

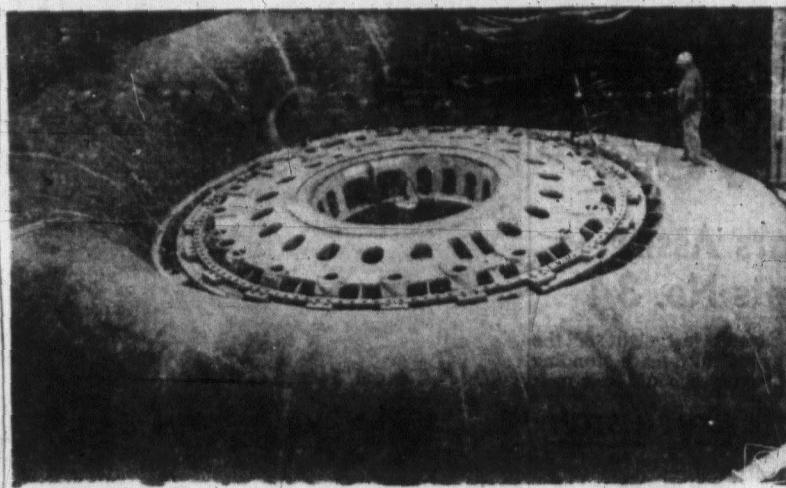

Half a century of Canadian social change through exuberant economic optimism and critical depression are being marked in the 12 Canadian offices, including Victoria, of Bongard and Co. today.

Still a family firm, now comprised of 11 partners, Bongard and Co. was founded by the late Robert Ross Bongard at Toronto on Feb. 15, 1912.

The company grew to become one of Canada's largest brokerage firms under Mr. Bongard, who remained active until the late '40s when his two sons, Gordon R. and Strachan K., took over active management as senior partners.

Bongard and Co. were pioneers in introducing up-to-date business machines, being the first brokerage to move from hand ledger-keeping to book-keeping by billing machines.

WHOPPER—Steel spiral case resembling giant inner tube will channel water into power generator of Oahe Dam on Missouri River above Pierre, S.D. Seven of the 20-foot diameter cases will be used in Oahe, the world's largest rolled earth dam. It will be 9,300 feet long, 242 feet high. The water which backs up will create a lake 250 miles long.

Hal Malone LOOKS AT SPORTS

City fathers, by and large, tend to be an assorted collection of peccans, some palatable, some plausible, some platitudinous.

Many love to talk about roads and sewers (they don't always build them but they love to talk about them), hanging baskets and bobby hats, assessments and taxes.

Others like to demonstrate their sporting characteristics and frequently do. How many dog shows, canary contests or horseshoe pitching tournaments are allowed to open without a familiar alderman flashing his fangs for news photographers?

When it comes to doing something about sport or recreation, though, the majority break out in a cold sweat, clutch a hand to their quivering hearts and stutter: "Games? Recreation? Oh dear! What would the taxpayers say?" This reaction is not confined to Altonville, B.C. It happens in hamlets from Vancouver to Flower Basket, Newfoundland.

Sexy Hydrangeas Completed the Menu

A typical example of aldermanic erudition occurred in Vancouver not too many years ago. The city had been chosen as the site of the men's national basketball championships.

To honor the teams, city council threw a modest luncheon. The soup to nuts having been devoured with no interruptions, the players turned restless eyes to the exit. One elderly alderman finally decided that the guests should be welcomed. Clearing his throat, he stood and said: "Gentlemen, on behalf of the city council, I want to welcome you to our fair city. As a horticulturist of long standing..."

He then proceeded to talk for 42 minutes on the sex life of hydrangeas, soil porosity and other fantastically interesting items.

When the fertilizer follies ended, he was given a rousing hand. After all, he could have continued for 84 minutes.

This week there was evidence that not all aldermen have cobweb imaginations. The bulging waistline brigade was brought to stiff attention by Ald. Michael Griffin. Throwing away his political handbook, Ald. Griffin proposed "the establishment of a recreation commission to accommodate citizens from the cradle to the rocker."

His suggestion could have had its genesis out of frustration. Not long ago he advocated free parks and facilities rental for amateur and semi-amateur (soccer and baseball) groups. Horrified councilmen "tabled it" (akin to interment without the formality of the funeral service) "to see what it would cost."

Lily Ponds, Mozart Fine—So Is Sport

Disdaining niceties, Ald. Griffin launched his recreation commission plan with both arms flailing.

"We have the authority and power, but lack the initiative to appoint a recreation commission, and, in turn, one or more directors to qualify for provincial grants..."

"Victoria pays the lowest in all of Canada toward the recreational needs of her citizens."

"It's a total disgrace that we have this 'distinguished honor', something which we should correct without any more delay..."

He wasn't finished. Victoria, he said, pays $4,800 a year for the maintenance of the Beacon Hill Park. Vancouver pays $415,000. Richmond, $34,000. Nanaimo, $11,000. The great metropolis of Trail manages $22,000.

From city coffers go annual grants to provide lighting effects at Beacon Hill Park, to keep the tourist bureau percolating and the symphony strumming. These are admirable causes. But ogling neon-splashed lily ponds or cocking an ear to the compositions of Handel and Mozart is not everybody's tea and crumpets. Recreation fits in there, too. Or it should.

Whether he knew it or not, Ald. Griffin's plan could not have been more timely. It happens that Doug Fletcher, the city's unofficial amateur sports czar, is considering retirement. His "hang-up-my-sweat-socks" proclamation has, for the last 10 years, been an annual thing, like the first of the year bird count.

It seems likely that the demands of putting on Victoria's centennial sports program, in addition to his normal 24-hour day of supervising, managing and coaching minor sports, will climax a worthwhile career.

Don't Clutch the $500—There's More

How many thousands—or tens of thousands—of dollars Fletcher has saved this village in the last half century is unknown. The facts are that he did the job (a) because he wanted to and (b) because he was financially independent. More rare species are seldom found outside fiction pieces.

Had Ald. Griffin's scheme been in effect last autumn, Victoria might have had an ideal man to administer it. Doug Anderson, the hockey player, was between teams. He had played and lived here for nine years. He was—and is—a good family man. He became interested in Little League baseball—his son played—and was widely respected for his quiet, efficient manner.

Just after he joined Portland, he was asked if he planned to stay here had not the pro offer materialized. "I would have liked to," he said. "Sport has been my life. I found the supervising side interesting and I learned a lot from Doug (Fletcher). But they don't have a recreation director here—at least not a paid one—and I can't keep my family on fresh air."

There's an aftermath to the Anderson story. Even before he moved his family to Portland, Anderson was asked by Harry Glickman, the Buckaroos' general manager, about his off-season plans.

"I'd like to be in recreation work," said Doug. "I'd like to see what I can do," said Glickman.

Four hours later Anderson was offered $500 a month to direct a business firm's sport plan for employees' children.

Before he had a chance to make up his mind, he got a call from Glickman.

"Don't rush into it," said Harry. "I think you can do even better."

Kimberley Ladies Win Curling Title

PENTICTON (CP)—After five years of trying to win the title of Kimberley Ladies' curling champion, the British Columbia women's curling championship.

Miss Hansen had an easy time Wednesday defeating Joyce Smart of Kelowna 7-3 in the final round of the three-day, round robin series. She ended up with a 5-1 win-loss record.

Her only serious competition came from Flora Martin of Victoria who ended with a 4-2 record after defeating Joy Mitchell of Kitimat 8-7. Had Miss Hansen lost that would have been a sudden-death final with Mrs. Martin.

The Hansen rink, which now goes to the Canadian championship at Regina, Feb. 26, was never headed after the second end.

Miss Hansen, with May Shaw as lead, Isabel Leith, second and Ada Calles third, had little trouble in the game.

Bathgate Nears Assist Mark; Hull Pots No. 34

Chicago Black Hawks haven't lost sight of the chance of improving their current third-place standing before the National Hockey League schedule ends next month.

After the jolt of a double defeat during the weekend, they hung on for a 4-3 victory over New York Rangers Wednesday night and pulled within five points of the second-place Toronto Maple Leafs. Montreal Canadiens remain 14 points ahead and not entirely out of reach.

The Chicago game, the only NHL fixture of the night, dropped the fourth-place Rangers 10 points behind the Hawks and a perilous two points ahead of Detroit Red Wings in the battle for the last playoff spot.

The Hawks started with a bang, striking for four goals in the first 28 minutes. However, they had to snuff out a late New York rally to come out on top.

BIG EARLY LEAD

Ab McDonald's 17th goal of the season put the Hawks into the lead late in the first period. Then Bill Hay, Bobby Hull and Ron Murphy ran the count to 4-0 by the 8:40 mark of the second.

Hull's goal was his 34th of the season—tops in the league—and his 19th in 16 games.

Guy Gendron put the Rangers on the scoresheet about a minute after Murphy's marker. It was Gendron's first goal since Dec. 12.

Ken Schinkel and Earl Ingarfield counted midway through the final period to reduce Chicago's lead to 4-3.

PENALTY HURT

The Rangers kept up the pressure, but a minor penalty to defenseman Irv Spencer—only the fourth infraction of the game—at 18:18 just about killed their chances.

Andy Bathgate of the Rangers, the Hawks' leading point-getter, drew an assist—his 15th of the season—on Ingarfield's goal. That leaves him just one assist shy of the league record for right wingers set by Gordie Howe of Detroit last season.

Bathgate also is within reach of the league's overall mark on assists in one season, set by centre Jean Beliveau of Montreal last season.

Marcel Paille, playing his fifth consecutive game in the New York nets as Lorne (Gump) Worsley's stand-in, appeared jittery in the first half. Then he settled down and wound up with a 32 saves, 19 in the last period.

BROKEN BEAR

Glenn Hall had 35 saves in the Chicago nets.

Pat Hanigan, 25-year-old New York centre, suffered a broken nose in the second period when he ran into Hull's stick.

MOSCOW (AP)—A Sovietrefused to grant travel documents to the East German team, a development resulting directly from the building of the wall in Berlin by the Communists.

Unless the East Germans have these travel documents they cannot apply directly to the United States for visas.

Hockey officials later confirmed the report.

If the Russians officially decide not to go it would be because they wished to demonstrate solidarity with the East German team.

TO FIGHT LISTON

Champ Offered Million

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Promoter George Parnassus will offer to guarantee world-heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson $1,000,000 to defend his title here against Sonny Liston, the Los Angeles Times said today.

Parnassus told the newspaper he will make the offer to Julius November, Patterson's lawyer.

"If November is serious so am I," Parnassus said. "But I've wired offers to November and Patterson before and never even had the courtesy of an answer."

CAN HAVE CHOICE

November arrived on Wednesday to look into the possibility of a Patterson-Liston match here in late spring. He met Bill Nicholas, general manager of the 100,000-plus-seat Memorial Coliseum. All concerned said nothing came of the first day's talks.

Parnassus said Patterson can have his choice of $1,000,000 or 40 per cent of all receipts.

Largest recorded boxing purse is the $990,445 paid to Gene Tunney for the second Jack Dempsey battle in 1927.

RACING ROUNDUP

Triple Crown Names in Hat

NEW YORK (AP)—Nominations close at midnight tonight for the Kentucky Derby, Preakness, Belmont Stakes.

Pat Hanigan, 25-year-old New York centre, suffered a broken nose in the second period when he ran into Hull's stick.

The owners of Crimson Satan, two-year-old champion of 1961 in the United States, Sir Gaylord, Riden, Dead Ahead, Admiral's Voyage, Cyane, Donut King and many others are writing cheques and getting postage ready.

The $125,000-added Kentucky Derby, 1 1/4 miles at Churchill Downs in Louisville, Ky., starts the triple shindig May 5. The horses go to Baltimore for the $150,000-added Preakness over 1 3/16 miles at Pimlico May 19. The $125,000-added Belmont Stakes at 1 1/4 miles is set for Belmont Park here June 9.

No horse has swept the triple crown since Citation in 1948. Tim Tam came close in 1958, so did Carry Back last year. Both won the Derby and Preakness, but were injured during the Belmont running.

Johnny Longden, celebrating his 55th birthday, was aboard Pixie Erin, who was clocked in 1:46. It was Longden's 5,574th career win.

Smashing Gail, four-year-old daughter of 1952 Kentucky Derby winner Hill Gail, ran a powerful race and scored a three-length triumph over the favored Cicada in the $33,900 Columbian Handicap at Hialeah Park. Seven Thirty was third.

With jockey Bobby Ussery making up most of her 116-pound package, Smashing Gail ran the seven furlongs in 1:23—one second slower than the track record.

Intentionally, who won the Seminole Handicap Saturday by eight lengths and became a favorite for the $100,000-added Widener, was retired to stud.

Intentionally, co-holder with Swaps of the world record for a mile of 1:33 1/5, will stand as a syndicated Florida stallion.

PNE READY TO QUIT

firmly established in the league's northern division cellar and have only a slender chance of making the playoffs.

Fyfe made the announcement in a prepared statement, which drew loud applause.

The PNE bought the Canucks franchise in 1957 for $150,000 and there has since been heavy pressure, lead by Al. Frank Fredrickson, a former national league star, for the sale of the franchise.

Fyfe made it clear there had been only one written application for the franchise, a $45,000 offer by businessman Harry

'LOOK OUT BELOW... MAN OVERBOARD'

Some people have trouble getting airborne but that wasn't one of jockey Adrian Major's problems at Plumpton, England. Sent aloft by his mount, Latch Key, at a jump in the Lindfield Novices' Chase.

Major looks like a graceful if worried swan as he tries for two-point landing. He made it without injury except to his pride. Major came back to ride a winner two races later. (AP Wirephoto.)

Nanaimo Even With Bruins But Gets Title

NANAIMO—Nanaimo breezed to a 10-1 conquest of Victoria Cougars here Wednesday and collected the Vancouver Island Junior "A" hockey title. Or at least Nanaimo owns the championship on paper.

Theoretically the Nanaimo success gave Red Carr's club only a 3-1 tie with Esquimalt Bruins in the round-robin play-off. But B.C. Amateur Hockey Association officials, at a special post-game caucus, nullified Esquimalt's 8-3 win last week over Cougars because an overage player was used. Cougars were given the win.

The player, John O'Neill, was suspended for three years for falsifying his Canadian Amateur Hockey Association certificate.

The BCAHA action culminated a series of off-ice explosions and protests by rival managers over ineligible players, certification, pre-series agreements and other crucial matters.

If the managers couldn't agree on most points, they were in accord on at least one: From start to finish Nanaimo appeared to be the best team.

Red Carr's flock proved it emphatically Wednesday. They blasted 70 shots at Victoria's Bob Fisher. His rubber night-mare involved 23 stops in the first period, 20 in the second.

Bill Beck and Len Slogar were the boys Fisher will remember best. They scored three goals each. Harvey Thein rang the bell twice.

Larry Biggs ruined Nanaimo's shutout hopes. His second period goal came after Nanaimo had amassed a 7-0 lead. Nanaimo and New Westminster open a best-of-five series for the coast championship at Nanaimo Saturday night.

Edmonton Flyers, leaders of the Western Hockey League's Northern Division, increased their lead to 10 points Wednesday night as they downed the second-place Calgary Stampeders 4-2.

San Francisco Seals downed the Spokane Comets 7-2 before 2,700 fans at the Spokane Coliseum.

The Seals are last in the Southern Division. The Comets are second, 12 points back of the defending champion Portland Buckaroos.

A total of 3,319 fans saw Roger DeJordy score three of Edmonton's goals and Ed Joyal round out the scoring. DeJordy has 18 goals for the season.

Gord Veprava and Cliff Bristow scored for the Stamps.

Bristow's third-period goal was the thriller of the night.

Taking a pass from Lou Jankowski, he circled John Mickowski and scored.

Giles Boisvert away from the post with a minute and 50 seconds remaining.

In San Francisco, Nick Mickowski scored two for the Seals with Al Nicholson, Harry Pithers, Gord Redahl, Ray Cyr and Ken Girard adding the others.

Russell Made Celtics Great

By HARRY GRAYSON

NEW YORK (NEA) — Bill Russell comes as close as anyone to being an indispensable man in athletics.

Not even a team as great as the professional basketball Boston Celtics can get along without Big Bill Russell.

This was thoroughly demonstrated when Boston lost four straight games for the first time since the 6-foot 9½-inch, 210-pound University of San Francisco star joined them upon his return from the Olympic Games in Melbourne in early December of 1956. Philadelphia Warriors recorded seven consecutive victories so picked up three lengths on the Gaels while Russell was on the sideline nursing an injured Achilles' tendon.

The Celtics had Easy Ed Macauley, Bob Cousy, Bill Sharman and Jim Loscutt as a backbone previously, but never won the Eastern Division championship of the National Basketball Association or the playoffs until Russell checked in to neutralize the other side's big man and otherwise lend a brilliant hand. Since Russell reported, the Hub Hotshots have bagged five Eastern titles in a row and won the playoffs four times.

A year ago, Bob Cousy remarked that the Celtics could get along quite well without his ball handling and play-making.

"The Celtics would roll right along without Cousy," he said, "but they wouldn't win consistently without Russell."

They didn't when Russell went out with the bum heel. Russell wraps up a tremendous package. Averaging 20 points and 25 rebounds an outing, Big Bill, totally unselfish in setting up plays, is even more formidable defensively. How well he handles the opposing big man was strikingly demonstrated in Philadelphia a month or so ago, when the justly celebrated Wilt (The Stilt) Chamberlain scored little until Russell eased-up after the Celtics obtained a robust lead.

Celtics Feel Conley's Absence

An unusual slant to the phenomenal Celtics is that the gent they miss most is the baseball pitcher, Gene Conley, now with the New York Yankers of the American Basketball League.

"Russell and Conley complemented one another perfectly," said one of the Celtics, who for obvious reasons requested that he not be quoted. "Without Conley to back him up, Russell has had to play more minutes, frequently the entire game. Conley—a remarkable jumper, held the other team even under the boards, scored and belted the opposing big guy a couple of times. He spelled Russell for five minutes with no damage done, and Big Bill bounced back as fresh as Carry Back in the stretch."

You can get arguments in regard to pro basketball's top player. There are voices for Elgin Baylor, Oscar Robertson and Wilt Chamberlain, Jerry West and Walt Bellamy get votes.

But the NBA combatants themselves knew what they were doing when at the conclusion of last season they voted Bill Russell the most valuable workman among them.

Big Bill is the difference—even with an array as extraordinary as the Boston Celtics.

Haggerty, Kiniski On Grapple Card

"Hard-Boiled" Haggerty is coming back to town.

The colorful grappler returns to Memorial Arena Saturday night to tangle with Roy McLarty in one of the four bouts carded on a professional wrestling show.

Other matches will send Gen Kiniski against Chief Crazy Horse, and Mr. Kleen against Alex Perez.

Opening the program at 8:30 will be a tag-team match in which brothers Cyclone and Hurricane Smith are slated to take on Bill Wright and George Kostl.

Chiefs can Clinch Top Berth Friday

Skating soldiers have other ideas, but Pontiac Chiefs are expected to wrap up first place in the regular Esquimalt District Hockey League schedule Friday night.

Chiefs and Army meet in the second game of Friday night's regular season. Bill Esquimalt Sports Centre and a triumph for Chiefs will put them out of reach of their rivals in the four-team circuit. Promising to make things tougher than usual for the military men are Art Green and Doug Grant, both slated to play their second game of the season for Pontiacs. Grant, a former performer in Victoria's commercial loop, made his debut with Chiefs last week.

Police to Guard Oxford 'Torpedo'

OXFORD, England (AP)—Oxford University has called in the cops to guard its special made-in-Italy "torpedo" boat. Group Capt. Jumbo Edwards, the Oxford coach, decided to ask for police protection to keep the craft unharmed for the April 7 boat race against Cambridge. An Oxford training boat was damaged recently by persons unknown.

"With all this disgraceful sabotage going on, we must be very careful," Edwards said.

SCOTLAND YARD? Whether this would mean a special swoop by Scotland Yard or just occasional visits by the men on the beat was not made clear, a police spokesman in nearby Wallingford said any measures that were taken would naturally be kept secret.

The torpedo boat, rounder and more tube-like than the conventional British craft, is in the London docks awaiting clearance. Italy used a similar boat in the 1960 Olympics at Rome.

Oxford's decision to import an Italian boat brought the usual defensive riposte from Cambridge.

"It will sink," said Cambridge President Roger Nicholson. "It will go down with all hands."

Last year, Oxford tried revolutionary shovel-type oars and finished floundering in Cambridge's Wake Cup, losing in 1960 and 1961.

This year's race may see two Canadians in competition. John Lecky, Cambridge, is almost certain to row for the Light Blues. John Christopher Madden has what he described as a "marginal" chance to make the Oxford crew. Both are from Vancouver and have rowed for the University of British Columbia.

Champion Broders Iced By Bakers

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP)—New Westminster Bakers of the Inter-City League Wednesday night downed the Canadian champion Lethbridge Broders, 9-2, in an exhibition basketball contest.

Bob Bradley with 32 was Broders' high man, followed by Lloyd Harris with 20, Ken Winslow, with 30 led Bakers, followed by Mike Potkinjak with 15.

Lions' Probe Report Available on Friday

VANCOUVER (CP)—A two-month investigation of British Columbia Lions and new television plans for Western Conference football games made all the news Wednesday in preliminaries to the annual meeting of the Canadian Football League.

General managers of Canada's nine professional teams met in closed session with finance officers to talk over today's separate meetings of Western and Eastern Football Conferences and the CFL annual meeting Friday and Saturday.

The long-awaited report conducted independently for the Lions by a committee of three will be given to the press Friday night.

Committee members were Don McPherson of Regina, Al Anderson of Edmonton and Frank McMahon of Vancouver. Lions members will vote Feb. 28 to adopt or reject the study, which could mean changes in the Vancouver club's administrative setup.

The television news, which probably will be confirmed at meetings today, is that private TV will cover WFC games for at least the next two seasons. Canadian Television (CTV), the network of eight private stations, from Montreal to Vancouver, submitted a bid Wednesday of $200,000 a year for the next two seasons.

Hastings (Red) McMahon of Edmonton, the WFC's television committee chairman, said the CTV offer was "substantially higher" than the amount the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation paid for 1961 TV rights.

The CBC announced earlier this week it was dumping Western football. The corporation paid $169,000 for WFC rights last year and supplied game films, estimated to be worth $20,000 to the WFC coaching staffs.

MAY ASK CBC

But some observers still feel the CBC may be asked to take on coverage again, because CTV couldn't cover as great an area as does CBC.

Things other than the fate of the Lions and the future of football television, however, will occupy meeting time between now and Saturday.

The possibility of dressing 14 imports for each game instead of the present 12 is certain, with talk too on the schedule, rule changes, a player equalization scheme; and the possibility of borrowing players from the National Football League.

SECTIONAL PLAY SOUGHT

Jim Trimble, colorful and candid coach of Hamilton Tiger-Cats, had some words about the schedule Wednesday night.

He called for a schedule that would cover summer and spring. Trimble said the CFL schedule should be split into two sections on a seasonal rather than geographic basis, lumping together teams in both conferences, the first section would extend from April to July and the second from August to November with the Grey Cup putting the two champions against each other.

Vancouver To Stage Swim Test

MONTREAL (CP)—Canada will send 65 athletes and 17 officials to the Nov. 22-Dec. 1 British Empire Games at Perth, Australia.

Jack Davies, president of the Canadian British Empire Games Association, said the association has collected $12,000 in cash and has another $52,000 pledged in its campaign to raise about $100,000.

The team will leave Vancouver by chartered plane on Nov. 9.

Some trial dates and venues had been set. These include: Wrestling, June 7-9, Guelph, Ont.; weightlifting, June 23, Sudbury; rowing, Aug. 4-5, St. Catharines; swimming, July 11-14, Vancouver; track and field, Aug. 4-6, Toronto.

CATS CLAW TERRIERS

FORT WILLIAM (CP)—Port Arthur Bearcats of the Thunder Bay Senior Hockey League Wednesday night handed Galt Terriers a 3-0 lacing in the first western game of Terriers' exhibition series on their way to the world hockey championships.

The world championships are scheduled to start in Colorado Springs and Denver, Colo., in late March. Bearcats pounced for three goals in the second period as the teams played through scoreless first and third sessions.

Port Arthur goals were scored by Gerry Watson, Gary Olney and Wally Maxwell.

Junior Clubs Start Series With a Draw

Nobody can say that First United and Victoria Optimists aren't evenly matched. They finished at 49-49 Wednesday night in the first game of their two-game total-points city junior men's basketball finals.

Mike Gallo socked in 22 points for First United. Pete Bridgewood fired 16 for Optimists. Ray Williams had 14.

Oak Bay Optimists dropped a 47-43 decision to YMCA in the second game of the city juvenile boys' final but won the title on the strength of a 39-31 win in the opening game, finishing with a four-point edge.

First United-Gallo 22, Turner 16, Harris 3, McKeachie 12, Green 2, Total—49.

Optimists—Gallo 3, Kuchemba 2, Kilgus 8, Williams 14, May 3, McCarney 2, Bridgewood 16, Renaud 3, Total—49.

FAMILIAR SIGHT at Black Ball Ferry landing on Departure Bay, near Nanaimo, is Mv. Tsawwassen, which is providing Nanaimo-Horseshoe Bay service on B.C. government system while Mv. Kahloke is undergoing annual refit. She will stay on job while other regular ferry, Mv. Chinook, gets annual refurbishing, then will be ready for her own overhaul. Previously while one ship was off run, its partner carried on alone, giving four-hour service instead of two-hour schedule provided during current fitting-out season. Brentwood School Reunion Expected to Attract 200

BRENTWOOD—All former teachers and students of West Saanich School will be welcomed at a reunion to be held in Brentwood Elementary School Feb. 21, starting at 8 p.m.

Brentwood PTA is sponsoring the event, and hopes to have an attendance of at least 200, according to Mrs. A. P. Pugh, Wallace Drive.

PICTURES NEEDED

Copies of a history of the school from 1880 on, compiled by John Windsor, will be available, she said, and pictures of former classes will be projected.

"We have asked that anyone having pictures of classes, especially prior to 1920, get in touch with me to arrange showings," she said.

Building occupied by West Saanich School for many years now is the Scout Hall on Wallace Drive, near Sluggert Road. New Brentwood Elementary School, on Wallace Drive, but closer to West Saanich Road, now serves the same area.

"There is no scheduled program," Mrs. Pugh said. "There will be refreshments, but we think it will be an evening of gossip and recollections."

She said some of the students at Brentwood Elementary School are the fourth generation to attend either the old or new schools, "including my own."

COBBLE HILL—A suggestion to demand hourly passenger and express service on the E and N Railway will be put forward at the annual meeting of the Vancouver Island Railway Association, president George E. Bonner said today.

"We believe trains should meet the ferries at Nanaimo," he said. "We will approach the railway first for the service before taking other action."

Mr. Bonner said the group also will discuss changes in provincial assessments.

Annual meeting will be held in the Canadian Legion Hall at Nanaimo, March 19 at 2 p.m.

British Columbia Airlines Ltd. will apply to operate a class one service between Vancouver, Comox, Powell River and Port Hardy, a route already served by Pacific Western Airlines.

The application will be made at a meeting of the Air Transport Board which opens in Vancouver May 1.

Pacific Western officials said Wednesday they have no thought of abandoning the route and said they were at a loss to understand B.C. Airlines' application.

The board will hear a number of other applications, principally for consolidation of charter services in the lower mainland and Vancouver Island areas.

DUNCAN—City council and Cowichan Exhibition Society will be joint sponsors of a parade in September to mark the 50th anniversary of the incorporation of the city.

The parade of floats and youth organizations, plus detachments from the armed forces, was suggested by Miss Mary Waldon, president of the exhibition.

Mayor Jack Dobson said it was an excellent idea and it would be much better for the two bodies to co-operate than the city council to "go it alone on a half-baked plan."

NANAIMO—Trustees of Departure Bay Fire Protection District have awarded a contract to Lickley Johnson Palmer Construction Ltd. for construction of a firehall at Departure Bay.

Company's bid was $47,545.

Plan Urged to Keep Meat Packers

Agriculture Minister Frank Richter and Trade Minister Robert Bonner are jointly seeking action to preserve B.C.'s disappearing meat packing and slaughtering industry.

Two big firms closed B.C. abattoirs last year, and a big meat packer was bought out by a competitor.

Mr. Richter told the legislature Wednesday that this had been "the most disturbing event ever recorded in our meat production industry."

It not only eliminated purchasers of B.C. livestock, but also cost hundreds of jobs.

ACTION STUDIED

"We recognize that many of the factors involved are beyond our control as a province, but we are examining closely the possibility that some action might be taken that will ensure no further reduction in the number of federally-inspected abattoirs now left," he said.

Mr. Richter also announced that the UBC department of dairy science in co-operation with his department will conduct a special study into milk quality and standards.

It will take two to three years, he said, and is aimed at solving problems of overproduction and storage of dairy products.

Mr. Richter said he planned to introduce legislation at this session to allow co-operation with the federal government in its new agricultural rehabilitation and development program.

He said he had written federal agriculture minister Alvin Hamilton advising him of this and listing projects which could be done in B.C. under the scheme known as ARDA.

Mr. Richter said he asked for a conference to discuss details and cost-sharing. ARDA would provide aid for developing poor lands, drainage, irrigation and flood prevention.

Mr. Richter also said there would be some staff changes in his department this year "to better serve the industry as a whole." But he didn't elaborate.

Mr. Richter said that farm cash income in 1961 had topped $134,000,000. This was $4,000,000 more than the amount given in last week's budget because of more recent figures. Mr. Richter said the final figure would be even higher when more statistics came in this spring.

Citizens Urged As Participants

Secret of success for Victoria's centenary is to draw citizens into it as participants rather than spectators, first of five fact-finding meetings was told Wednesday night.

Wayne Lemmon, vice-president of the consulting firm hired by the city to evaluate the centennial program, said two top "vehicles for community participation" are beard growing for men and dressing in century-old fashions for women.

About 65 persons, largely drawn from professions and unions, attended the initial meeting in the Empress Hotel. Four more meetings are slated for today and Friday for leaders of women's groups, clubs and sports organizations, business groups, cultural and community associations.

OPINIONS SOUGHT

All will fill out a two-page form indicating their personal preferences for the type and scope of centennial celebrations and these will be tabulated to assist the evaluation study.

Mr. Lemmon said beards were highly important to any civic celebration because they turned the ordinary "man in the street" into an ardent booster.

He said some civic celebrations have suffered tremendously when beard growing was discouraged "by ivory tower decisions." In Portland, Ore., he said such a decision had produced a boycott of celebrations by men who had started beards.

Equally important, he said, would be a campaign to have women dress in the fashions of 1862. It would involve them directly in the celebrations and give them added enjoyment.

"A centennial is something to be—not something to see," he emphasized. A major historical pageant, with about 500 local actors in the cast, would "really be box office," Mr. Lemmon said.

A few vocal suggestions were made by the audience in addition to those written into the forms.

Several suggested a military tattoo should be included in the celebrations.

Another suggestion was that each of Victoria's business blocks should individually sponsor an event for the celebrations "so there would be something going on practically every night of the summer months."

Dedication of Thetis Lake watershed as a park was suggested as a cost-free permanent memorial to the centenary.

SANTIAGO, Chile (UPI)—A series of sharp earthquakes rocked southern Chile Wednesday over a four-hour period, but early reports indicated few casualties and minor property damage.

Police Trying To Identify Body of Man

RCMP and city police today were trying to identify the body of a man found floating off Albert Head Tuesday.

An RCMP spokesman said identification was difficult as the body was decomposed.

"We have no idea how long it has been in the water and we can't give any indication as to the man's probable age," he said.

The body, clothed in jeans and a jacket, was found by army personnel from Albert Head camp.

'WELL ARRANGED' DOUBLE SUICIDE

TARZANA, Calif. (AP)—Fleetwood Lawton, 52, a well-known radio commentator until seven years ago, and his wife, Virginia, 48, killed themselves in a coolly arranged double suicide pact, police say.

Their bodies were found in a bedroom of their $40,000 house Wednesday. Both were shot through the heart. A .38-caliber revolver lay between them.

Notes were left pinned on the front door, taped to a hallway wall and in the bedroom of their 16-year-old son, Peter Alan Fleetwood Lawton.

Lawton was known for his news commentaries over Los Angeles radio station KFI in the 1930s and early 1940s.

The couple said in their many notes they had had serious financial troubles. They apparently shot themselves Tuesday night, police said.

"This was not inconsidered or a sudden impulse on our part," said one note signed by both. "Our final decision was made last Friday afternoon after a man who had definitely promised to invest $30,000 in our insurance company abruptly phoned us to say the deal was off. This was our last hope. . . . Now we are totally paralyzed. . . ."

PROVINCE OF BRITISH COLUMBIA PUBLIC UTILITIES COMMISSION NOTICE

SPECIAL TIMES SERIES

Farmers Take Loss
If Meat Not Graded

Recent reports of widespread sale of contaminated meat in Ontario have touched off concern across the nation. Efforts in Greater Victoria have resumed to obtain inspection of locally-slaughtered meat. This four-part series outlines the scope of the local problem and some of its other aspects.

By JOHN MIKA
PART 2

Local farmers, as well as consumers, may be wasting money because there is no inspection of locally-slaughtered meat.

Consumers, of course, would be wasting money if any of the uninspected meat they bought turned out to be unwholesome.

But farmers are losing too, and heavily, in unrealized income from their meat production.

Lost subsidies for hogs and lamb production alone probably run to $17,000 annually for local producers.

That's made up of the $3 federal premium on Grade A hogs and $2 on Grade A and B lambs dressing out between 36 and 51 pounds.

About 5,000 lambs and some 2,500 hogs are involved here. Yet none of the carcasses qualify for the subsidies because they are not graded.

And, under provincial and federal regulations, they never will be graded unless they are first inspected to make sure they are fit for human consumption.

Farmers also lose indirectly from the lack of grading facilities.

If their meat produce could be graded, it probably would fetch somewhat higher wholesale prices. And grading would vastly expand the potential market for their production.

Cost Insignificant By Comparison

At present, they can only sell directly to consumers or through small butcher shops, because institutions and supermarkets will not even look at uninspected and ungraded meat. (Three supermarket chains are reported to be so touchy about the situation now that they only will accept federally-inspected meat.)

Let's look at the other side of the coin, the cost of meat inspection.

The present scale of fees established for government-designated inspection facilities—there are eight such abattoirs in the Fraser Valley—charges 50 cents per head of beef and 25 cents per calf, hog or sheep. That goes to the veterinarian who makes the inspection.

So all it would have cost to inspect last year's hog and lamb production here, as a first step towards obtaining the $17,000 subsidy total, would have been $1,875. That leaves a pretty big unrealized profit.

It would be more difficult to estimate the additional loss in better wholesale prices and wider markets suffered by local farmers because they can't compete with inspected and graded meat.

Yet some opponents of meat inspection, posing as friends of the farmers, say it would create a hardship for the producers.

Farmers and abattoir operators in the Fraser Valley sought and obtained inspection and grading services precisely so they could compete in the lower mainland market with imported meat which is inspected automatically. Their sales have increased and they even can sell in the Victoria market at an advantage over local producers.

Pat Bay Needs Double Highway

Two separate Patricia Bay highways — one for through traffic, the other for local traffic — were proposed in the legislative session by Saanich Social Credit leader John Tisdalle.

The road for through traffic would go to the Swartz Bay ferry terminal.

"Maybe this could tie into Blanshard Street," said Mr. Tisdalle.

He said he was "unhappy" that the new diversion of the present Pat Bay Highway to allow for longer airport runways was not four lanes wide.

The Sidney area was already congested with local traffic and the heavy volume of trucks and cars from the ferries required more than two lanes.

Mr. Tisdalle said that drivers already are "getting impatient" on the Pat Bay route.

NEW MARINE DRIVE

At least there should be an extra passing lane at the approach to the diversion and near the ferry terminal, he said.

"I hope the minister will view with urgency something along these lines," said Mr. Tisdalle.

He also proposed a circular marine drive around Greater Victoria.

This would be an extension of the present drive, from downtown to Cordova Bay, would cross the Pat Bay Highway, and go along the West Saanich Road.

Mr. Tisdalle suggested the Capital Improvement District Commission consider the eastern half of the circle as its next project.

Fried Ice Cream—Yummy

Latest dishes on B.C. menus: deep fried ice cream and dehydrated laying hens.

Agriculture "chef" Frank Richter presented the concoctions to the legislature Wednesday.

He said they were examples of the kind of imagination needed to promote more consumption of B.C. agricultural products.

He had the deep fried ice cream at a Vernon restaurant recently.

The dish consisted of batter with a scoop of ice cream dipped into hot fat.

"With onions?" asked Opposition Leader Robert Strachan. "No; but no doubt some way could be found to add onions, too," was the reply.

"It was very palatable," said Mr. Richter.

He said it was very important to promote more consumption of milk products.

"Milk is our first food when we arrive in the world—to many it is the last food when they leave."

Mr. Richter said poultrymen had now found a way to use old laying hens no longer productive.

They were distributing packages of dehydrated fowl, and quite a lot was being eaten in North America.

Mr. Richter suggested this was a wonderful idea for a world food bank; the packages could be distributed to underprivileged countries.

BALLPOINTS REPLACE SCRATCHY P.O. NIBS

OTTAWA (CP)—Science is about to remove another cause of frustration for the public—the bent 'or broken post office pen nib.

The post office announced today it is starting to replace all the old nib-and-holder pens on postal counters with modern ballpoints. It admitted that nibs were a nuisance.

The new pens are black and gold with a 24-inch anchoring chain "to discourage borrowing by absent-minded patrons."

Attache Killed in Congo

LEOPOLDVILLE (AP)—

The assistant U.S. military attache in this Congo capital, Lt. Col. Hulen D. Stogner, 39, of El Paso, Tex., was shot in the head Wednesday night as he lay on his bed reading. He died an hour later without regaining consciousness.

Within two hours a Congolese chauffeur was arrested but a spokesman for the U.S. embassy said questioning had provided no useful information. The chauffeur was held in custody by UN Nigerian watchman. A search was launched for Stogner's Congo were investigating the killing.

Kennedy Flashes Anger Under Student Heckling

JOGJAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)—Robert F. Kennedy drew a mixture of cheers and jeers today after challenging student hecklers "if you disagree with any aspect of American policy step forward — come up here and tell me."

Only one student of Jogjakarta's Gadjah Mada University came forward with a long question referring to the U.S. "capitalistic and monopolistic society."

Jabbing his finger toward the youth, the U.S. attorney-general launched into a long statement on U.S. life and politics. Showing flashes of anger, Kennedy told the students at one point to grow up when they attempted to pin him down on the U.S. attitude toward Indonesia's claim to Dutch-held West New Guinea. After reiterating that the United States felt ownership of the disputed territory should be determined by negotiations, he added heatedly:

"You should be more mature. Here, you've had the benefit of an education and you cannot expect the United States to agree with everything you do."

The attorney-general said his brother, President Kennedy, was injured in the Pacific during the war partly to free Indonesia and during the same time Allied soldiers were seeking to free The Netherlands.

HINGED UPPER PLATE TESTED THE HARD WAY

TORONTO (CP)—Horst Kaestner is getting his teeth — or at least half of them — into an idea.

Mr. Kaestner, a dental technician, has had all his top teeth pulled so he can experiment with a false plate of his own design.

His new upper plate is hinged in two places to give it more flexibility and it lacks the arched roof of the conventional denture.

"It seemed to me there must be a better way to make false teeth," said Mr. Kaestner, a dental assistant in Germany before coming to Canada in 1956. He decided to try out his invention on himself, so he could best work out any defects on it.

But now a new bug has cropped up to delay the inventor's experiment. An upper wisdom tooth is just coming through.

VALUE OF COURSE STRESSED

Survival Trainees Complimented

The value of survival training in natural and man-made disasters was pointed out to 200 members of the second national training course in Bay Street Armory Wednesday.

Colonel L. W. Johnson, 25 Militia Group commander, congratulated the men after the passing out ceremony and said they were probably "surprised at what a difference six weeks training can make."

He praised the men who volunteered to stay in the militia and urged others to do so.

"You are not training for militia does not want war any war," he said. "The Canadian more than anyone else does."

Two big advantages to owning a new G-E washer! You have two separate agitating speeds—one for delicate things, one for regular or heavily soiled articles! And you can select the temperature of the water to suit the fabrics you're washing—hot, warm or cold; with warm or cold rinse water! All you do is set the dial and walk away!

What a boon to a busy home-maker! No guessing as to how long it will take to dry clothes—just set the dial and machine shuts off on its own when clothes are dry! Or, if you prefer them damp-dry, ready to iron—just choose the other cycle, and set the time you wish. Safety re-start switch means even if kiddies open the door, machine won't start again until upper switch is released.

WHEN LEASE DIES

Crystal Garden Park Urged

City finance committee today indicated the city may establish a small downtown park behind the Crystal Garden when lease on the property runs out in two years.

The city owns the land on which the Crystal Garden stands and about one acre behind it.

The company's lease expires Dec. 31, 1964, which will revert all the land—and the building—to the city unless a renewal is negotiated and signed.

City officials expect the CPR will wish to renew its lease in order to hang on to the Crystal Garden but several indicated that they felt the city should take back the acre of land, bounded by the rear of the Crystal Garden, Blanshard and Belleville Streets.

CLUBHOUSE SUGGESTED

"It would be an opportunity to establish a downtown park," said Mayor R. B. Wilson. "It would be very nice in that area when the high-rise apartments go up there."

Ald. A. I. Curtis agreed, suggesting the city could build a clubhouse and take over the lawn bowling greens forming part of the property to provide public bowling.

Discussion arose from a Canadian Pacific Lawn Bowling and Social Club request for city assistance in persuading the CPR to permit it to maintain its clubhouse in the Crystal Garden.

SPACE FOR WAXWORKS

The company wants the club to vacate the room by the end of this month to provide space for expansion of the waxworks museum.

Committee appointed Mayor Wilson, Ald. Arthur Dowell and city manager G. C. Wyatt as a delegation to discuss the situation with CPR officials.

Ald. Dowell pointed out the city had given the company many concessions in the past and it might be able to induce the CPR to allow the bowling club to retain its present quarters until the current lease runs out in 1964.

He pointed out one of the terms of the CPR lease was that it maintain a "warm salt water" swimming pool in Crystal Garden but the city had allowed substitution of fresh water a few years ago when the salt water system became outmoded.

Unitarian Group Urgently Needs Refugee Clothing

The Unitarian Service Committee of Canada has issued an urgent appeal for warm clothing to be sent to refugees in the Gaza strip.

After an "all-out campaign" the USC hopes to be able to ship 30,000 pounds of clothing to the Middle East trouble spot where thousands of Arab and other refugees huddle with little to ward off the bitter winds and driving rain.

Any form of warm clothing suitable for men, women, boys, girls or babies in reasonable repair can be sent to: Dowell's Carriage and Storage, 1117 Wharf Street, where volunteers will sort and pack donations for shipping.

City Police Represented At Funeral In Vancouver

Police chief John Blackstock travelled to Vancouver today to represent city police at the funeral of Det. Larry Short, who was killed in a gun battle in the Bayshore Inn on Friday.

He was accompanied by city detectives Raymond Maitland and William Andrews, who were friends of Det. Short, and Const. Lorne Shandley, president of Victoria City policemen's union.

The funeral had a side effect on the case of former real estate man, Milton King, who has pleaded guilty to a charge of criminal breach of trust.

King was to appear in court today to give his lawyer, David Hummel, a chance to cross-examine Det. Andrews who was the chief prosecution witness.

Ottawa Donates $16,000 Toward Freezing Plant

A grant of $16,000 toward a freezing plant for the Saanich Fruit Growers' Association has been made by the federal government, it was announced by association manager Herbert Bickford.

The growers hope to obtain a matching provincial grant for the $48,000 plant which will be built beside the present fruit shed on Keating Cross Road.

The freezer will allow growers to chill their products while waiting "favorable" marketing conditions and will eliminate double handling of fruit.

CONCENSUS-FISHING DERBIES GOOD FOR SPORT, FISH

Tisdalle Dead Wrong Say Piscatorial Experts

By HAL MALONE

Fishing derbies do not deprive a fisherman of his sportsman's status nor result in the depletion of fish.

This was the majority reaction of sports fishing authorities today to a claim by Saanich Social Crediter John Tisdalle that derbies are ruining both sport and salmon.

"Sports fishing is overdone by derbyism," Tisdalle told the legislature Wednesday. "Something should be done about it."

Tisdalle said far too much emphasis is placed on prizes. If a fisherman is really a sportsman "he doesn't need grand prizes such as cruisers, cars and trips to foreign places."

Only one of three sports fishing authorities, agreed with him. And only in part.

Gary Williams, president, Victoria Fish and Game Protective Association, said: "We believe in conservation. We don't believe in derbies. We fish for the sport. We're not interested in a prize."

He didn't agree that derbies are depleting the fish population.

"One commercial trawler will bring in as much fish in one haul as will 10,000 sports fishermen," he said.

Fishing guide Jim Gilbert of Brentwood, hotly disputed the MLA's statements.

"Irrational... a detriment to tourism," said Gilbert. "When he says the stocks are depleted drastically, he's talking through his hat."

"Saanich Inlet isn't an enclosure... fish are constantly moving in and out. There has been a slight decrease in our catch. Once you only had to throw a brass spoon in and you had a fish. You have to use bait and give it more effort today."

Gilbert said that Saanich Inlet Anglers' Association and Saanich Inlet Boatmen's Association would fire letters of protest to Tisdalle.

Gilbert added that the boatmen's group plans a one-day derby this year with all receipts going to the study of fish conservation and the possible restocking of Goldstream Park.

As for prizes, Gilbert said the last major fish derby which offered a substantial prize—an automobile—was held here in 1948.

"The idea today is to stage small derbies, preferably with merchandise prizes. For those with a large investment in boat and fishing gear rentals, it's a matter of economic necessity to interest as many people as possible to fish in Greater Victoria. It's too easy for them to drive elsewhere."

Ron Ritchie, past president Lower Vancouver

Island Amalgamated Sportsmen's Association, said: "I don't believe it is poor sportsmanship to fish in derbies... I do feel it is poor sportsmanship for anyone to offer cash prizes."

"When a sports fisherman accepts cash, he's a commercial fisherman."

Ritchie also said: "One-day derbies are not hard on fish—we hold our derbies at Saanich Inlet from daylight until 2 p.m., and the daily limit, regulation keeps the catch down."

Commercial net fishing is still the most damaging (to the fish population)—"when they pull in their nets they often kill a great number of undersized fish."

Teamsters Protest Non-Union Contract

Others Underbid On Big Moving Job

'SCOUT WEEK' CEREMONY SET

Scout Week in Victoria will be opened Saturday at 10 a.m. with a flag-raising ceremony outside City Hall.

Mayor R. B. Wilson and regional president C. W. Nash will address an anticipated 400 boys from 18 Scout and Cub groups.

Following the addresses the flag will be raised by two Queen's Scouts.

The Scouts and Cubs will be drawn from troops and packs of the Camosun and Fort Victoria districts.

The contract was for the moving of furnishings and records from the old courthouse on Bastion Square to the new courthouse on Cathedral Hill.

The public works department accepted a bid of $2,800 from Blue and White Transfer, a non-union Victoria company, over bids of $5,000 and up from five other local companies.

LEADERS APPROACHED Local 885 of the General Teamsters' Union addressed its complaint to Public Works Minister W. N. Chant, CCF-NDP leader Robert Strachan, Liberal leader Ray Perrault and The Victoria Daily Times.

"There were numerous bids submitted by fair companies to do this job," said R. Milliken, secretary of the local, "but the public works department saw fit to award the job to a non-union outfit."

A spokesman for one of the union companies said: "Paying union wages, we could not possibly take on a job of this size for less than $5,000. In the Land Registry Office alone, there are 2,200 filing cabinet measuring 15 feet high."

CHARGE ANSWERED To which a representative of Blue and White Transfer replied:

"We submitted what we thought was a fair price. Surely the government is entitled to accept the lowest bid. In any case, the job is now three-quarters completed."

In his protest to the government, Mr. Milliken said: "The larger cartage companies in the Victoria area are the main users of the government ferries to and from the mainland; and we think the awarding of the contract should have taken this into consideration."

CLOSED ON FRIDAY Transfer of deeds, legal documents and office records from the old courthouse will be completed this week and the office will close next Friday at 3 p.m.

The new land registry office will open next Monday at 10 a.m. It will be located on the ground floor and the entrance faces Christ Church Cathedral. The entire courthouse operation is expected to be transferred by the end of this month.

ASK The TIMES

Q. When was the lighthouse at the entrance to Esquimalt harbor built, what is its official name, and is it still in use at the present time for navigation purposes?

J. V. P. A. The light on the port side of the entrance to Esquimalt harbor is known as the Fisgard Light. It still is used by the navy for navigational purposes, and is now an automatic light, the keeper having been removed about 20 to 30 years ago. The light was built in 1861.

Cyclist's Death Ruled Accident

A coroner's jury took only four minutes today to rule Victoria's first traffic fatality of the year as accidental.

Exonerated of all blame in the Tuesday morning death of 13-year-old Gerald Griffin was Victoria College student Gordon Burleson, 18.

The six-man jury listened to the testimony of eight witnesses and the driver before making its decision.

The accident occurred 35 feet east of Cook on Pandora Avenue at 8:16 a.m. Tuesday. Young Griffin, 2221 Lydia, was riding a bicycle when he collided with the student, Burleson, of 1344 Thurlow.

BOTH STUDENTS

Both were on route to their respective schools at the time. Dr. Ross McNeely, pathologist at Royal Jubilee Hospital, said the youngster died from hemorrhaging into the brain as a result of a fractured skull.

The boy's grandfather, William Rowlandson, 2221 Lydia, identified the body.

He said that his grandson had been riding his bicycle to school for two months previous to the accident, as it had been under repair.

Witness to the accident Ray Williams, 3075 Larkdowne, told the jury he saw the boy dart out of a driveway on the north side of Pandora.

"I could see he was going to be hit," he said, "as he was crossing the street, against the light, at a fair speed."

Williams estimated the speed of Burleson's car at no more than 30 mph.

This was substantiated by B.C. Electric bus driver Gunter Vieweg, 1000 Tillicum Road, who said the college student was proceeding at about 25 mph.

Judy Harding, 16, 141 Kamloops, said she did not see the collision but did notice the boy on the bicycle just previous to the accident.

BICYCLE SWERVED

"I saw the boy dart out of the driveway," she said. "It seemed as if he had lost control of the bike, the way he swerved."

A second teen-ager, 14-year-old Inke Shoeman, 930 Balmoral, described what she saw to the jury.

"I was on the way to school when I turned and happened to see a bicycle shoot out from the driveway on Pandora. The boy was dragged by the car when he was hit. It all happened so fast."

William Winther, 2631 Mount Stephen, said he heard the crash and then saw the driver get out of his car to aid the youngster, but admitted he had not seen the initial impact.

All witnesses described the weather as clear but said the road was wet at the time. There were different opinions on the amount of traffic near the intersection at the time.

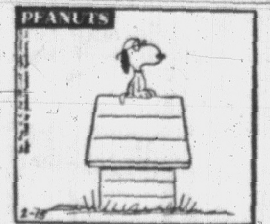

IN PROPER LANE

Traffic officer William Somerville said the initial impact was 35 feet from the intersection and that the bicycle was lying 79 feet from here when it came to rest.

Burleson said he did not see the boy until he was about 20 feet away.

"He came from behind a parked truck. As soon as I saw him I put on my brakes and swerved. We hit and the bike, the boy, and my car headed in one direction. Then they flew off."

According to witnesses, Burleson was in his proper lane, and police said his car brakes were in good shape.

DEAR ABBY . . .

Don't Walk-Run!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I could write a book about what I've been through these past three years, but what good would it do? We've been married 29 years. I am, and have always been, 100 per cent loyal to my husband and I know he has been the same to me. Yet he has accused me of infidelities with the janitor, the plumber or any other man who comes to the house on business. When we walk down the street I have to keep my eyes on the ground or else I am "flirting" with every man I pass. I have to take a bath with the lights out because my "shadow" might be seen from the outside. I am so nervous I am ready for an institution. Should I see a doctor?

NERVOUS WRECK
DEAR NERVOUS: By all means see a doctor and take your husband with you. From your description of him he needs a doctor worse than you. His behavior is far from normal. Make an appointment for TWO without delay.

DEAR ABBY: I have a problem boy named Gilbert. I like him very much but I know he doesn't care a thing about me. He comes over and we make out, but he tells me not to take it to heart because he only kisses me because he needs the practice for the real thing; when the right girl comes along. I try to stay away from him but I can't do it because I really like him a lot. Can you help me?

HELPLESS
DEAR HELPLESS: No one can help a girl who refuses to help herself. Your only hope is to gather your willpower and refuse to have anything more to do with him. Practice makes perfect, but this kind of "practice" is making a fool of you.

DEAR ABBY: Two months ago we buried a very close relative. We received many baskets and bouquets of flowers. The cards were left on the flowers so I picked them up and gave them to one of the daughters. This caused a lot of trouble. I was told I should have left the cards on the flowers. I want to know, was I wrong in taking the cards off the flowers or should I have left them on?

RIGHT OR WRONG
DEAR RIGHT: You were wrong. After the services are over, the funeral parlor furnishes the family with a list of people who have sent flowers. The cards should have been left on the flowers.

Combine Patterns to Make Fitted Style

"Dear Eunice: Please tell me how to take the 'blouse' out of a pattern and change it to a fitted style." Mrs. C.N.J.

The easiest way to make a fitted bodice from a blouse pattern is to combine a pattern which is darted at the waist with your other pattern. Be sure to match the shoulders and the centre front, then cut the bodice from your pattern with the darts.

Guests—Present at meeting of the Women's Guild of St. David's Church by the Sea, held in the home of Mrs. K. M. Lewis, were Mrs. V. Wed in Comox Church

Carnations and iris were at the altar of St. John the Baptist Church in Comox when Brenda Rose Osman exchanged vows with Christopher Brian Henderson. Fr. Bullock officiated and music was played by Miss T. Dennis. Laverne McIntyre sang a solo during the signing of the register.

Parents of the principals are Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Osman and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Henderson, all of Comox.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a pale blue suit, white accessories and white carnation bouquet.

Pale yellow suit and white carnation corsage was worn by the only attendant, Miss Eva Turin, Vancouver. The mother of the bride chose a pale grey suit complemented with pink accessories and corsage. The groom's mother wore tan accessories with her pale brown suit.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Smith, 600 Atkins Avenue, wish to announce the engagement of their eldest daughter, Valerie Marie, to Mr. Brian John Willson, son of Mrs. M. Schneider, Las Vegas, Nevada, and Mr. R. Willson, Burns Lake, B.C. The wedding will take place on Friday, March 9, at 8 p.m. in Centennial United Church. Rev. SHOPPING GUIDE

Why Not Surprise Dad With an Impromptu Gift?

By PENNY SAVER

"Screw loose, Sir?" is the quip-pressed-in gold-colored lettering on the simulated leather case of a handy pocket screwdriver.

The screwdriver is round with four different sized protrusions to be used for tightening bolts. There's two grip holes in the centre. Case is approximately one inch by one and a half inches in black, brown, or tan colors.

Dandy little item to have around the car, when you happen-by accident—to track down one of those ever-annoying rattles.

Gaming for sport is always fun and it will be even more fun for the man in the family with one of the poker dice sets with a snap top. Bottom of the case features a dice box for shaking the dice. Try him at his own game. Mother. Price is only $6.50.

A useful travel item for Dad is a collapsible clothes brush. Plastic slide cover, covers brush when not in use. To use, the cover slides behind the bristles, causing them to stand up.

Inside the calf skin base of the brush is a stud box, for cuff links, tie bars and any other jewelry he has in his wardrobe.

Sounds smart for only $6.50 doesn't it?

Bottle caps can be a nuisance, but not so bad if you use one of the magnetic bottle openers I've seen. They're made of chrome-finished steel with a magnetic inset on the head. Handle is covered with pigskin, and the shape—oh so modernistic. Price is only $3.

Wondering where I saw these items that will be of special interest to Dad? Call me right away and I'll tell you. Penny, EV 2-3131.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Sleeves Have Gone Out of Style So the Arms Are 'In'

Since sleeves have gone out of style, arms certainly have been in the spotlight, and will be there to stay for a while. It is almost impossible to buy a dress without sleeves. For this reason, the appearance of our arms is even more important than ever.

As women grow older their arms are apt to become flabby. Exercise is a great help. Try this one. Stand tall. Bend your elbows and place your fingertips on your shoulders. Now stretch your arms up over your head, turning your palms out so that the backs of your hands touch. Again bend your elbows and place your fingertips on your shoulders and continue. Do this exercise vigorously, shooting the arms up into the air.

The grooming of the arms is also important. Hairy arms are no more attractive than hairy legs. Use a depilatory regularly if you need one. Remember, too that make-up gives the arms a big boost toward beauty. It's a fine idea to use liquid powder on the arms when you are wearing formal or cocktail garb.

The neck is another spot in which age first leaves its mark. Posture has a great influence. Try to hold your head with your chin parallel to the floor, neither thrust forward nor pulled back into your neck. Push toward the ceiling with the top of your head.

Announcement

Mr. and Mrs. Albert W. Green, 1005 Oliphant Avenue, announce the engagement of their only daughter, Doreen, to Mr. Ernest Albert Jay, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward F. Jay, 4337 Columbia Drive. The wedding will take place in St. John's Anglican Church on Saturday, March 3, at 8 p.m. with Canon George Biddle officiating. Miss Linda Roberg will be maid of honor and the groom-elect's sister, Miss Diane Jay, bridesmaid. Flower girl will be the bride-elect's cousin, Heather Woods. Mr. Derek Green, the bride-to-be's brother, will be best man and ushers will be Mr. Wally Kunalovich and Mr. Ken Jay, the groom-elect's brother.

Returns Home

Mrs. Thomas Turner has returned to her home on Hampshire Road after spending the past two months holidaying in eastern Canada and Florida.

Visitors

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Noble came by air from Moncton, N.B., to spend a few days with Mrs. Noble's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Bell, at their home on Central Avenue. The young couple will go on to San Francisco for a few days before returning to the Atlantic coast.

Far Away

Mrs. Carrie MacLean and Mrs. Ruby Stewart are Victorians enjoying a three-month visit in Australia and New Zealand at present. They are not expected back in the city until March. Both are members of Victoria Business and Professional Women's Club.

Tea Hour

Mrs. W. G. Thorpe was the hostess at the tea hour in her home on Richmond Road recently when guests were committee members of a bridge-tennis party to be held in the Nurses' Residence of the Royal Jubilee Hospital on March 6, by the Women's Auxiliary. Guests included Mrs. R. G. Southin, president; Mrs. Ronald F. Hopkins, Mrs. Foster Smith, Mrs. Charles E. J. Harwood, Mrs. Katherine Dean, Mrs. George Darlington and Mrs. L. G. Hamilton. Mrs. Thorpe is general convener.

CAREER GIRL TALKS

Dream Up Ahead—Career In World of Fashions

By JOY POLLARD

Sales clerk, part-time model and aspiring designer is 18-year-old Patricia Marie Noels who dreams ahead to a career in the fashion world.

That career really got under way during her last two years in high school when she worked part-time as a sales clerk in women's clothing.

"It gave me an appetite," she recalls now. "After I graduated I went right back for a permanent position there."

Ask her what made her gravitate to fashions and she answers, "I'm a girl—and girls always dream of posing and pivoting in elegant clothes."

Only difference was that this attractive young woman didn't let her dream wither. She has developed poise and charm and worked hard to maintain one of the most important requirements in the field of fashion, good grooming.

"It takes a good deal of self-discipline to resist that extra piece of cake, and spend more spare time on grooming, but it's worth it, and very rewarding," she says rather wistfully. She's already had a taste of modelling in photographic work for her company and in a large fashion show.

"The fashion show gave me a bit of an awakening. It's hard work. Not at all like young girls see it in dreams. It's strenuous, too."

"But despite this, there's nothing compared to the wonderful feeling you have when the show's over and you know you've done a good job."

"I love it," she adds.

Designing is the part of the fashion industry that intrigues Patricia Noels the most—and she has a well-appointed wardrobe that attests to ability in both designing and sewing.

"I imagine if the opportunity was to arise for a full-time modelling position I would accept," she tells you. "But my ultimate aim is designing."

Miss Noels lives at home with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Noels, 1791 Keith Place, and her four sisters, Georgina, 19; Jeanette, 17; Vivian, 16; and Rita, 11.

"My father is a little out-numbered," she laughs. "Travel? She says, 'nothing specific is in the offing, but if I ever do make up my mind to travel I would like to visit Europe—Paris, of course, and all the fashion centres.'"

Jan, Mrs. R. Kelly, Mrs. B. Daniels, Mrs. N. O'Neill, Mrs. A. Higgs and Mrs. A. Pearce. Serviteurs were Mrs. B. Baldwin, Mrs. B. Rhodes, Mrs. P. Flint, Mrs. V. Rossiter, Mrs. M. Eales, Mrs. A. Merry and Mrs. J. Merry.

Tickets were handled by Mrs. M. Watson and Mrs. M. Penman and tombola, Mrs. V. Holmes.

Integration Responsibility of All

Successful integration of Indians in Canada is the concern and responsibility of all citizens. A. S. Cormier, senior officer of the citizenship branch for western Canada, told Provincial Council of Women, Wednesday evening.

Speaking to the 43rd annual meeting of the council, in the Empress Hotel, he said "whatever the approach, it is advisable to plan continually for a broad base of community support—not only financially but in all types of human and material ways."

Mr. Cormier told of activities being carried out in different Canadian centres. He brought out the need for a study of the question "that should have depth and breadth so as to lead to comprehensive and realistic suggestions and recommendations for action."

He also told of the problems of urban Indians, the development of friendship centres and of the present situation from the viewpoint of interested organizations.

"The most advanced urban programs, aimed at Indian integration, still have a long way to learn about the problem and much to develop in the way of therapeutic measures," he warned.

"The needs vary so much with the type of community and the type of Indian."

A panel of speakers answered questions following the address.

Talk was sponsored by the council and the University Extension Department of UBC. Chairman was B. E. Curtis, extension department; panel members, Miss J. R. Wright, director, Indian Advisory Act; R. H. S. Sampson, superintendent, Indian Affairs Branch, and A. Scow, Indian barrister.

Council Takes a 'Second' Look

A better co-ordination of ideas was one of the findings brought out of a workshop session, held Wednesday afternoon at annual meeting of the Provincial Council of Women, in the Empress Hotel.

It was pointed out that education is needed "for a more uniform opinion" and that each group within the council should give real consideration to promotion of new ideas.

Need for a closer relationship between groups was also urged with better communications to work "up and down."

Careful choice and training of delegates to conferences was also stressed.

Relationship between executive members and council groups and members; division of member responsibility and the need for careful program follow-ups, were also discussed.

Council president, Mrs. R. T. Gilmore, opened the workshop session, a joint project with the UBC extension department. Mrs. G. W. Klisick, chairman of extension and publicity, gave the purpose of the workshop — "to take an honest look at the structure of our organization as it is operative today."

Workshop leaders were Mrs. A. D. Belnes, Vancouver; Mrs. D. Elliott, North Shore; Mrs. T. F. McWilliams, Kelowna; Mrs. H. Ernest, Mission City; Mrs. H. F. Hines, New Westminster; Mrs. J. R. McPhee and Mrs. B. Noel, Victoria.

Council Members Urged To Use Canadian Goods

Buy Canadian, delegates to Provincial Council of Women were urged at a luncheon meeting in the Empress Hotel on Wednesday.

Guest speaker, F. D. Mathers, president of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, said "there are many Canadian-made articles of just as fine quality and as low in price as anything we bring in from other countries."

He asked support of council members in promoting buying Canadian.

Pointing out that success of the six-country Common Market group in Europe, while an "economic surprise," will inevitably lead in time to lowering of trade barriers in Canada," Mr. Mathers expressed the hope that "we are ready and conditioned for it when that day comes."

Problems can be worked out if "we are able to compromise," he said, "if countries are prepared to give up something in order to bring something else in."

The speaker believed it might be difficult at first for Canada, "where we have been living under a certain amount of protection as far as our goods are concerned for some time. But in the long run," he said, "Canada will benefit."

Mr. Mathers was introduced by Mrs. H. Heath, Nanaimo, and thanked by Mrs. D. Elliott, North Shore.

Seated at the head table with council president, Mrs. R. T. Gilmore, New Westminster, were Mrs. George R. Pearkes, Mrs. W. A. C. Bennett, Mrs. Camille Mather, MLA; Mrs. Lois Hagen, MLA; Rev. B. J. Molloy and Mrs. Molloy, Mrs. Heath and Dr. Marian Sherman.

N.Z. HEALTH PLAN PRESENTS PROBLEMS

Economic Growth Hurt By Ever-Soaring Costs

Representatives of the medical profession appearing before Canada's royal commission on health services have indicated opposition to state control. This story describes New Zealand's 24-year-old government-run medical scheme.

By J. C. GRAHAM
Canadian Press Correspondent
AUCKLAND (CP) — Canadian doctors who visited New Zealand last year for the British Medical Association conference studied the state health service in force here.

Whether any of its features will be recommended by the current Canadian royal commission on health services is not known, but it has been widely examined abroad as a system of comprehensive health benefits for all.

The New Zealand service has, indeed, become an essential feature of national life. But it still does not give universal satisfaction and amendments are under urgent consideration.

New Zealand was a pioneer in introducing comprehensive state health services. The system was made universal under a 1938 act and extensions have been made at intervals for more than 20 years.

There is no complicating division of responsibility between central and provincial governments, such as exists in Canada. The entire service is operated by the national government.

NO MEDICAL BILLS

The system ensures that the average family never has any problem about medical bills—the state services look after them. The cost of health does not enter into the budget calculations of most New Zealand families.

On the other hand the cost is ultimately paid for through taxes. The growing cost of social services, including health, is a major government headache. Social service costs are estimated at nearly 20 per cent of national income, imposing a brake on economic expansion.

The government pays about $1 toward the cost of every consultation at a doctor's office and higher rates for home visits. In poorer districts this is often the full cost. Elsewhere doctors are permitted to charge additional amounts paid by the patient.

'Tories Dodge National Health Plan'

OTTAWA, Feb. 15 (CP)—Douglas, national leader of the New Democratic Party, said Wednesday night the federal government would pay for 60 per cent of a national medical plan under the proposals advocated by his party.

He charged that the Conservative government is "dodging the issue of comprehensive health insurance" which would only become a reality with election of an NDP government.

Speaking on the CBC's public affairs television series The Nation's Business, Mr. Douglas said the royal commission on health service which has been set up by the government is not concerned with a national plan.

He said the commission, now holding hearings across Canada, represents the medical profession and insurance companies while "farmers, workers and all those who are to receive the health services are conspicuous by their absence."

All attention in public hospitals is free, including surgery, nursing and board and meals. There are, however, usually waiting lists for admission. Those who do not want to wait may go to private hospitals where part of the fees are paid by the state.

Maternity, medical, hospital and other charges are free in public nursing homes. In private institutions the state pays part of the cost.

All children, even before school age, are eligible for free dental treatment. At schools this is handled by a chain of clinics staffed by dental nurses under the supervision of dentists. Older children up to 16 are treated by private dentists.

DRUGS ARE FREE
On production of a doctor's prescription, any pharmacy will supply drugs and other medicines free, recovering the cost from the government.

This has become the most costly and controversial aspect of the scheme. Critics say patients demand medicines from their doctors whether needed or not and that New Zealand has become a nation of hypochondriacs with bathroom cupboards crammed with scarcely-used bottles of medicine for every conceivable complaint.

Expensive new "wonder drugs" have further added to the cost. From 1951-52 to 1960-61 the cost of services jumped from $26,845,000 to $61,270,000. A breakdown of 1960-61 costs with 1951-52 bracketed: medical, $12,390,000 ($7,965,000); hospital, $16,520,000 ($6,195,000); maternity, $4,720,000 ($2,360,000); pharmaceutical, $19,675,000 ($7,080,000); other, including dental, $7,965,000 ($3,245,000).

The cost of the drug benefit continues to soar fastest. Forecasts have been made that this year it may go as high as $26,500,000. One suggestion is that a token charge be imposed, as in Britain, for every prescription. But even so mild a curtailment would bring strong opposition and the government is likely to hesitate before imposing such a check.

OTTAWA—There should be some "firings" among the staff of the CBC to put an end to the "depraved" and "disgusting" programs that have been appearing on the national television network lately, in the opinion of a western Progressive Conservative member of Parliament.

Programs dealing with sex and seduction that have appeared on the CBC have aroused the ire of the members of Parliament. Many of them on the Conservative side of the House applauded vigorously Wednesday when the producers were described as having "degenerate" minds, in the Commons.

The outburst of righteous indignation occurred in the House when E. W. Brunson (PC—Medicine Hat) directed a question to national Revenue Minister George Nowlan. He reports to the House for the CBC.

'Violated Sanctity of Home'

Outside the House Mr. Brunson said his question was prompted by protests he had received about a Sunday evening television program entitled "Crawling Arnold," Feb. 4.

It had been described to him in letters from his constituents as "depraved," "disgusting," "absolutely immoral," "garbage" and a "rank violation of the sanctity of the Canadian home and family," he told the House.

Later outside the Commons he said, "we need some senior officials of the CBC to take charge and clean house. I'll fire a few people. That's what I want. (Alphonse Oulmet, president of the CBC) should do, is fire some people," said Mr. Brunson.

"I can only suggest that if we were to start interfering with the programming of the CBC we would be laying the foundation for either a fascist state or a communist state," said Mr. Nowlan.

There were shouts of "shame, shame." And at the same time cries of "hear, hear," from both sides of the House.

"Once a political party starts interfering with the CBC... then the groundwork is laid for such a situation to develop," Mr. Nowlan added.

Welsh Society Meet
The Welsh Society will meet Tuesday, Feb. 20, at Duce's Hall, 512 Fort Street. Tickets for the St. David's Day banquet will be sold at this meeting.

SIX-YEAR-OLDS AIDED IN SERIES OF THEFTS

TORONTO (CP)—A gang of juveniles arrested for a series of break-ins in suburban North York included boys six years old, police said today.

The six-year-olds were released with a warning. But charges were laid against six boys between nine and 12.

Money, clothing and kitchen utensils were stolen from apartments.

MLA WANTS POLITICS OUSTED

Cheapest Power From Mica Dam

Quick development of Columbia power to ensure cheap energy for industrial expansion was advocated in the Legislature Wednesday by Alex Macdonald (NDP—CCF—Vancouver East).

He said Mica dam on the upper Columbia would produce the "cheapest power in the world," and asked why it should lie idle while expensive Peace River power is developed.

Mr. Macdonald said it is obvious that the Columbia should be developed first and that other power sources should be brought in when the need arises.

CUT OUT POLITICS

The whole question of power should be referred at once to the National Energy Board, thus "taking politics out of it" and enabling engineers and economists to make their recommendations.

The third NDP-CCF speaker in budget speech debate called the Peace development, which the government is pushing, the "monkey on the back of B.C. Electric and B.C. Hydro consumers"—the most expensive power in B.C. "at least until 1980."

Pacific Club Names Officers

Robert Hogarth was elected president of the Pacific Club in a general meeting held Tuesday night.

Launched in 1894, the Pacific Club is a reorganization of the old Victoria Club which was formed in 1885. It is the oldest such organization in the Pacific Northwest.

Jack Phillion was chosen vice-president and directors are Stewart Smith, Patrick Haggerty, George Evans, Thomas Monaghan, Dr. D. H. Hare and Lorne Merkley. Secretary is Harry Ward.

Queen Victoria chose the name New Westminster for the community that was founded in 1859 as the capital of the then crown colony of British Columbia.

Alberta Mothers Need Longer Hospital Stay

EDMONTON (CP)—Why should the average length of stay for maternity cases in hospital last year ranged from 7.3 days longer than Newfoundland to 8.6.

Members of the royal commission on health services, said these figures puzzled them about the question of a hearing here today. A survey conducted by four commission had been told in Edmonton hospitals, and out- Newfound-land that the average stay there was 3.5 days.

He added, parenthetically, "And they certainly have the chairman that the difference might reflect Alberta farm wives desire to take advantage of their 'annual holiday from the chores.'"

AHH...THE GOOD THINGS YOU CAN MAKE WITH CLOVER LEAF SALMON

SALMON PUFF

This novel puff is also the easiest possible to make. Mix 2 tablespoons of medium-grain rice with 1 cup soft bread crumbs. Season with 1/2 teaspoon salt and 1/2 teaspoon lemon juice. Beat the yolk of 1 large egg until thick (about 10 minutes). Add yolk to salmon mixture and blend thoroughly. Beat whites until stiff. Fold into salmon mixture. Pour gently into buttered baking dish. Bake at 350° F. for 40 minutes.

FAMILY SALMON LOAF

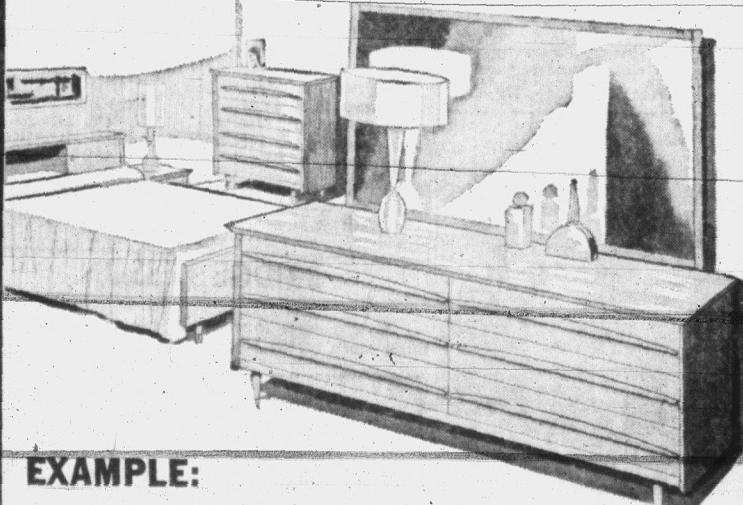

Mix together a 1-pound tin of economical Clover Leaf Pink Salmon, 1 cup bread cubes (no crusts), 2 tablespoons finely chopped onion, 2 tablespoons chopped parsley and 1 slightly beaten egg. Season with 1/2 teaspoon salt, a sprinkling of pepper and 2 tablespoons lemon juice or vinegar. Stir in about 1 cup of milk until mixture is of right consistency to spoon into a buttered baking dish. Bake at 375° F. for about 35 to 45 minutes (until loaf is set in centre). Delicious with cucumber salad.

SUNDAY SALMON SALAD

A little more trouble to make but worth it. Put a tin of choice Clover Leaf Smokehouse Salmon to chill. Peel and quarter a cucumber. Throw away the seedy centre. Chop what is left into bite-sized chunks. In a large salad bowl, toss green lettuce in 3 tablespoons of french dressing. Add finely chopped green onion and the cucumber. Mix. Turn the salmon onto a dish. Break apart slightly but keep the circular shape. Place on lettuce and cucumber. Top salmon with mayonnaise.

High Rise Design Speeds in Rough

Something different in small boat design has come of the drawing boards of Pelagic Construction and Design Ltd., where owner-manager-designer Capt. Dana Ramsay and naval architect Ray H. Richards are completing a form for a fiberglass power boat.

It is a 30-foot, high dead rise design which claims the quality of sea keeping at speed. Said in another way, it means this hull can maintain speed in sea which would have conventional V-bottom hulls throttled back to five knots.

Whereas the conventional V-bottom boat has a sharp forefoot which gradually lessens to an almost flat form at the transom, the high dead rise hull maintains its V to the transom.

"It's not a revolutionary design," according to Ray Richards. "However, it has only been in recent years that it has been accepted as a planing hull, and that people will ask for it."

Part of the credit for its public acceptance goes to boats of this design which have won various Florida ocean races. For ocean competition a hull must be of the type which will go at speed through any kind of sea, and those with high dead rise have proved the best.

"The HDR hull is about five per cent less efficient in smooth water than the flat bottomed boat," according to Mr. Richards, "but it will maintain speed in almost all conditions. That is why we believe it would be ideal for gillnet fishermen."

Gillnetters, he said, have short seasons, and the faster their boat, the more actual fishing they will do.

Their HDR hull would perform satisfactorily as a displacement boat at low power, but since it is designed to plane, it would require at least 100 horsepower to start realizing proper efficiency.

"This hull would take up to 600 horsepower easily if anyone could afford the gas bill," Mr. Richards said.

In addition to gillnetting it would be ideal for a water taxi, and even as a high-speed private cruiser.

"Stability is better than that of the flat-transom hull," he said.

The "plug," or mold on which it will be shaped, has been built up by a time-consuming method developed by Captain Ramsay.

This type of construction permits the use of compound curves, which fiberglass will follow readily, thus freeing the architect from many of the design restrictions imposed by other materials.

"Most 'plugs' are made of plywood, so the end result is a plywood boat made out of fiberglass," Mr. Richards said. "We expect to do better than that."

This 30-footer, with its deep V-bottom, is ideally designed for a twin-screw installation, or even the new hydrojet propulsion. She also gets full marks, of course, with the usual single-screw drive.

SAMMON URGES HOSPITAL AID

Greater Victoria metro health board chairman Coun. G. K. Sammon today urged the whole community to give solid support to St. Joseph's Hospital building fund drive.

The metro board Tuesday adopted a resolution endorsing the need for expansion of St. Joseph's Hospital and commending the program to the public.

"The St. Joseph's program, backing up the Royal Jubilee Hospital expansion, will fill the great need for more beds and certainly deserves full support for that reason," said Mr. Sammon.

To Win the Heart of NDP... Come and Sit with Me

Premier Bennett sent out Valentines Wednesday but his love is unrequited. The premier sent floral bouquets to the three women in the legislature.

Two of them were there—Mrs. Camille Mather (NDP-CCF-Delta) and Mrs. Lois Haggan (NDP-CCF—Grand Forks).

The third, Mrs. Buda Brown (SC—Vancouver Point Grey) was away ill. Mr. Bennett said she would be away "some days." She has already missed all night sittings of the House this session.

But Mrs. Mather responded to her Valentine in rhyme:

"Before I'll be your Valentine

You must become a friend of mine;

To win the heart of this

NDP

You must come over and sit

Boer War Ceremony

OTTAWA (CP)—Special ceremonies will be held in Ottawa, May 31, to mark the 60th anniversary of the end of the Boer War, it was announced today.

One feature will be a government sponsored dinner for any Boer War veterans who turn-up for the observances.

(SHORT SUBJECT) "TOP OF A CONTINENT": An eye-opening color film covering man's development among the icy wastes of the Northwest Territories will be available for showings by schools and interested private organizations by the end of March, with about five or six prints available in British Columbia.

This was learned Tuesday afternoon from G. David Webster, public relations manager for the Shell Oil Company of Canada, Ltd., Vancouver, at a private showing before representatives of education, the press, radio and television at the Empress Hotel.

The 38-minute 16-mm short that was two years in the making by Crawley Films Ltd., Ottawa, on behalf of Shell, when ready, be had on free loan from Shell Film Library, Box 2211, Vancouver.

Imagination is the keynote of the production that is the result of camera crews ranging a total distance of more than 75,000 miles, mostly by aircraft, focusing on wild life, on the awesome reaches of ice and snow that create their own particular brand of magic from Frobisher Bay in the east to Aklavik in the west.

As has always been the case in Canada since its beginning, the search for wealth and necessities of civilization leads to exploration and settlements which, as far as today's northland is concerned, may hold the key to whether or not Canada will become the great world power of visions.

As Shell prospects for what it needs to have in place, indication that beneath the tundra and granite of the Territories — covering one sixth of North America — lies cobalt, copper, gold, uranium and oil. The amazing growth that follows such explorations can be seen in the changed lives of the Eskimo and Indian.

Schools, stores, airfields, modern houses and heating plants have sprung up to attest to what is happening.

Where once there was only the sounds of nature, such as the surge of spring ice down the Mackenzie River, there is now the drone of the bush plane, the diesel tractor and the voices of civilized man as he tries to tame the untamed.

Campobello Island, New Brunswick, in the Bay of Fundy, long the summer home of the late Franklin Roosevelt, is only a mile from the U.S. shore.

TEEN-AGE CANADA

Twist to Revive Big Name Bands

By JACK HUTTON

A 31-year-old bandleader from St. Catharines, Ont., with a missionary gleam in his eye, is the latest fellow to climb onto the twist bandwagon.

But Ron Metcalfe, a youth-looking fellow with a dark brushcut, has a sneaky purpose in mind: "This is the way back to big bands," he says.

Ron, who has been "knocking on the door" for several years with his hometown dance band, has just had several things happen to him all at once.

1—He will accompany Chubby Checker, the world's twist king, at a special Toronto production next week, hoping as many people as possible will notice his 17-piece band.

2—The St. Catharines musician has just heard that his first single record—the Woodchoppers' Ball Twist—is selling well in the U.S. and is climbing up on Canadian hit parades.

3—His band recorded Canada's first dance record in stereophonic sound 10 days ago, switching a number of the old standard tunes into a twist rhythm. How it will go is anyone's guess.

I talked to Ron immediately after his recording session while his enthusiasm was still at a high peak. Do teen-agers, I wanted to know, really like the twist? Are their tastes changing?

Enthusiastic

"We wondered about this new dance," Ron admitted. "But overnight we changed our minds. Why, the twist is the best thing to happen to the big band business in a long time. The kids are dancing."

"While I was down in New York talking about our new record, I met Woody Herman who wrote the original Woodchoppers' Ball," Ron added.

"He told me he thought the twist was very reminiscent of the Charleston era. And, as you know, that ushered in the era of big bands. People wanted to dance and we had Benny Goodman and all the others."

The Revival

"Woody and a lot of others agree that our big bands have not had a certain sense of excitement for at least 10 years. That's what we hope the twist is going to bring back."

The bandleader sounded a cautious note for young Canadian musicians who may dream of someday cutting a hit record. "It's a tough business," he said.

"Our recording session last Sunday tied up 17 musicians, not to mention the technicians and others, for two three-hour sessions between noon and 8 p.m. Just one day, but it cost $4,000 for arrangements and everything."

"How will the record do? Well, they tell me that selling 20,000 records in Canada is equivalent to selling 1,000,000 in the U.S. Our idea of a big-seller is a lot different from theirs, and not as profitable."

"I wouldn't advise anyone to tackle this business unless he had a solid grounding and was prepared for a lot of work. But we're going to keep on selling the idea of big bands—and let's hope the twist helps."

Number Puzzle

Well, well, let's get back to that puzzle we suggested last week: arrange the numbers between one and nine in some way so that they add up to 100, not using any number twice.

The classic answer is 98 and 27 over 54 plus one and three over six. All the numbers are used and none are used twice.

Several of you wrote in with that answer—but what interested me most were letters which suggested alternate solutions. Gad, what brains!

Pete VanDine, a Leaside high school student, used 10 minutes' waiting for supper to come up with this answer. Add nine plus eight plus six plus four plus three to get 30. Then multiply five by seven by two by one to get 70. Add them and you get 100. Or, said Pete, combine seven and one to get 71. Add nine plus eight plus six plus five to get 28.

This gives you 99. But by placing four plus one over three plus two you can get five over five. This gives you the one needed to bring the total to 100.

It may make you all feel better to hear that the original question came from 17-year-old Barbara Grossman who is studying senior high school mathematics this year and hopes to go to university next year.

Our thanks to Barbara—and we'd like to hear from anyone else who has a similar problem you think will stump us.

THE TOP TWENTY

1. The Twist — Chubby Checker.
2. The Peppermint Twist — Joey Dee.
3. I Know — Barbara George.
4. The Wanderer — Dion.
5. Norman — Sue Thompson.
6. The Lion Sleeps Tonight — The Tokens.
7. Can't Help Falling in Love — Elvis Presley.
8. Baby It's You — The Shir-elles.
9. Duke of Earl — Gene Chandler.
10. Dear Lady Twist — U.S. Bands.
11. Town Without Pity — Gene Pitney.
12. The Greatest Hurt — Jackie Wilson.
13. A Little Bit of Love — Burl Ives.
14. Cotton Fields — The Highwaymen.
15. She's Everything — Ral Donner.
16. Irresistible You — Bobby Darin.
17. Walk on By — Leroy Van Dike.
18. So Deep — Brenda Lee.
19. Crying in the Rain — Everly Brothers.
20. Run to Him — Bobby Vee.

ask Andy HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy.

Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes.

The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Andy sends a complete, 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia to Diana Luick, age 13, of Staten Island, N.Y., for her question:

Do All the Planets Orbit in the Same Direction?

This question leads up into all kinds of interesting information about the neat little package of heavenly bodies which we call the Solar System. True, the Solar System still seems large to us and it will seem this way until our space ships are zooming back and forth among our sister planets. Then, perhaps, we shall get a truer realization of our proper proportion in the starry heavens.

Our Solar System is actually a small backyard in the vast system of stars called the Galaxy. There are about 100 billion suns in this Big Wheel and many of them have planet systems like our own. Nevertheless, our Solar System is a miracle of orderly neatness. This should not surprise us, for the microscope has shown us orderly beauty in the tiniest of particles. Order and beauty are designed into all creation, large or small.

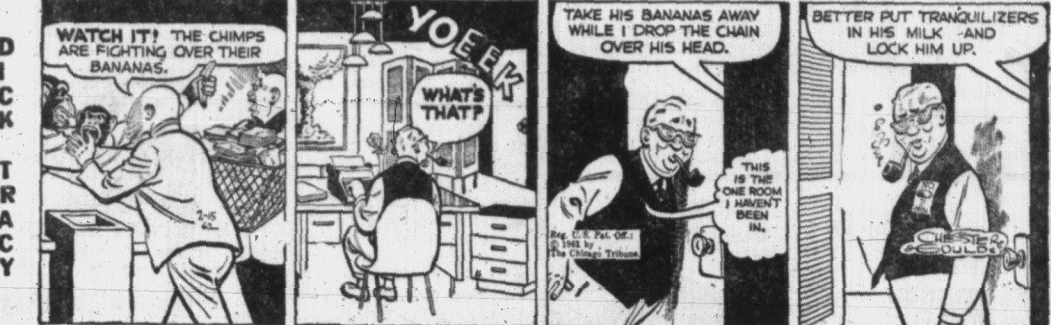

The nine planets of the Solar System orbit the sun at various distances. They are different sizes and different densities. Some have no moons, one has at least a dozen. They are warmer or cooler, brighter or dimmer depending upon their distance from the sun. But they have more similarities than differences.

Each planet travels around the sun in the same direction, from the west toward the east. This is the same direction in which the seething sun rotates on its axis. The entire whirling, twirling carousel is swinging around as though the separate parts belonged to a single wheel. The orbits of the planets are tipped, some more so than others, but all are roughly on a level with the sun's equator.

Rotates in Same Direction

The earth rotates in the same direction it travels around its orbit, from west to east. Venus is veiled in clouds too thick for a telescope to pierce and we cannot see the direction in which it rotates. But most planets rotate in the same direction as the earth. Big, fat Uranus, however, rotates in the opposite direction and it is tilted so far to the plane of its orbit that it seems to spin along on its side.

The outer rim of the Solar System is the orbit of Pluto, and from side to side the whirling circle measures somewhat more than 6,000,000,000 miles. The orbits of the planets are separated by millions of miles of empty space and each keeps to its own track. It was demonstrated long ago that our solar family is a stable system and will continue to roll on its merry way without mishap indefinitely.

IT HAPPENED LAST NIGHT

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—I was one who believed the Jayne Mansfield story. But Corbett Monica was funny at the Copa saying, "Everybody says it's a publicity stunt just because she was out in a boat with a mink coat over her bikini. . . . She swam two miles; she's got a fabulous breast stroke."

Jack Warner went to a party of comedians at Buddy Hackett's at Palisades, N.J., and met comic Marty Allen. "I'm with Warner Brothers," the Hollywood tycoon said. "Yeah?" said Allen. "What kind of an act do you and your brothers do?" Warner, amused, reached into his pockets for proof of his position—and couldn't find any. . . .

The American Society of Girl Watchers is putting out an "official compliment card" which members can hand to beautiful and shapely strangers on subways, buses, etc. On the card are the words: "You have the most beautiful . . . I have ever seen"—alongside a drawing of a girl, and places to mark X. The member then signs the card, hoping the girl will smile instead of slapping him.

Charlton Heston—in Washington to present a replica of an "El Cid" sword to Lyndon Johnson—happened to mention JFK. He was immediately driven in the Veep's limousine to the White House where JFK greeted him and picture publicist Al Tamarin in the Cabinet Room and flabbergasted them with his detailed knowledge of Show Biz. JFK even mentioned an ad for the picture he'd seen in a women's magazine.

"Biggest new smash since Marx, Martin," they're saying in Philly of Anita Gillette who sings a wicked, sexy song in "All-American," the Ray Bolger "starrer. She's the gal David Merrick praised when she subbed for Anna Maria Alberghetti. . . . Cannonball

Adderley, seeing a chap twisting at the P.L., said, "He looks like a man with two left hips."

THE MIDNIGHT EARL

Such doot at El Morocco: Bobo Rockefeller, Bob Hope, Alicia Purdon Clark, and JFK's brother Ted Kennedy. . . . Louis Sobol's director was killed in L.A. by an over-turned tree just as the March of Dimes was naming him B'way Man of the Year for a May 7 presentation. . . . Vivian Blaine requested the violinist to play "The Eyes of a Woman in Love" at the Monsignore—and burst into tears. . . .

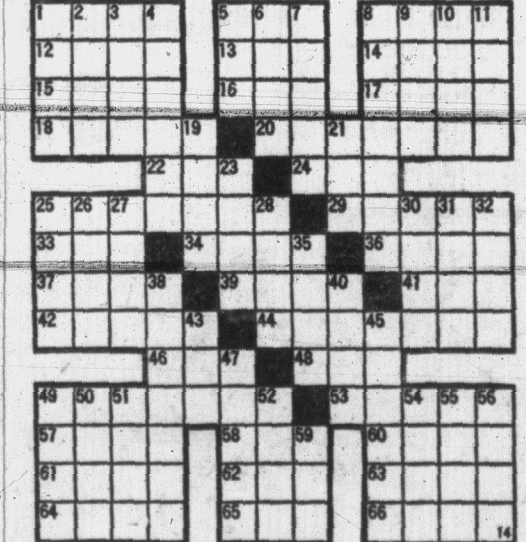

WISH-ED SAID THAT

Speaking of trade relations—a lot of people would like to.

EARL'S PEARLS: A tax expert is a fellow who knows all the ropes, and can hang you with any one of them.

A friend showed Taffy Tuttle her new Siamese cat, and Taffy said: "Siamese? Then what happened to the other one?" That's earl, brother.

WEATHERMAN BESTS MACHINE

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Weatherman Emil Kurtz today claimed a one-round knockout over an IBM weather information computer as rain began falling throughout Southern California.

The battle of the brain versus transistor began Tuesday when Kurtz, seated at the Los Angeles weather bureau, predicted an approaching storm would strike the area and might bring considerable rain.

The weather bureau computer in Washington almost flipped its switch at the forecast and said the storm would swing to the north and bypass Southern California.

"I don't think I'm smarter than the IBM, but it's in Washington and I am here," said Kurtz between showers.

CIVIC STRIKES

New Violence Rocks Algiers

ALGIERS (Reuters) — Rail, gas and electricity workers went on strike here as violence again broke out in Algiers today.

The strikes were called to protest the killing of European public service employees earlier this week and to demand more protection from security forces. Three thousand persons followed the funeral procession Wednesday of a utility worker killed by Moslem insurgents Monday.

Shots from a speeding car in Algiers badly wounded a Moslem motorcyclist today following large-scale violence in Moslem-European communal clashes Wednesday.

Thirty-three persons died and 86 were injured in Moslem-European communal clashes mainly in Oran and Algiers, the country's two largest cities. Twenty-one of the dead were Moslems.

The death toll was only exceeded by that of Jan. 3, when 38 were killed in violence rising out of Algerian independence claims and European opposition to them. Every day since the New Year has seen its list of dead and injured in communal trouble.

ATTACK MOSLEMS

Europeans in the Belcourt suburb of Algiers poured out of their houses and attacked Moslems indiscriminately Wednesday night after a car sped through a main street spraying bullets that killed two persons and wounded three.

Five Moslems were injured by the rioters and a Moslem shot two of them dead.

WANTED
France will be asked to extradite Gen. Rafael L. Trujillo, Jr., the Dominican government announced today. Trujillo is wanted for civil trial in connection with the assassination of his brother, President Juan Trujillo, prior to his flight from Santo Domingo last year.

Glenn Still Earthbound

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — Bad weather forced still another postponement of John Glenn's space flight today and forecasters said the outlook for Friday is "not good."

Today's was the ninth in a series of delays which has plagued America's attempt to put a man in orbit since December.

Peace Talks Near Completion

PARIS (Reuters) — Secret Algerian peace talks going on since Sunday are expected to wind up tonight or Friday with an end in sight to the seven-year nationalist insurrection, sources close to the French government said today.

Students Attack Dutch Embassy

TOKYO (UPI) — A shouting, singing mob of Indonesian students attacked the Dutch embassy today, shattered windows and injured three Japanese policemen who attempted to intervene. The youths were protesting the Japanese government's refusal to revoke landing rights of regularly scheduled Royal Dutch Airlines flights en route to west New Guinea.

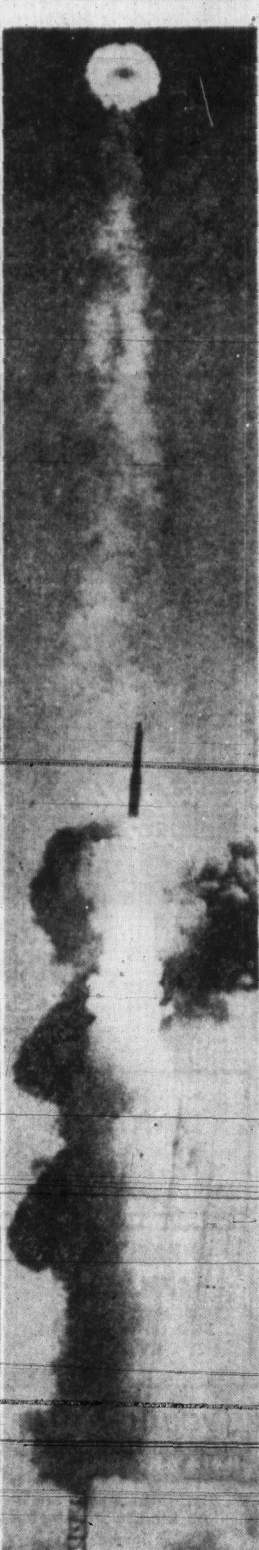

Canadian Trade Mission Going to Australia, N.Z.

OTTAWA (CP) — A 20-man trade mission representing nearly a dozen major Canadian industries will make a month-long tour of Australia and New Zealand in March and April, the trade department announced today.

It will be one of the strongest of the 22 trade missions being sent abroad by the government this year. Head of the mission is James Stewart of Toronto, former chairman of the Canadian Bank of Commerce. The mission will leave Vancouver by air March 10 and return April 8, visiting Canberra and six main commercial centres in Australia and three in New Zealand.

Among its members are presidents or senior officers of companies in the lumber, paper, fisheries, textile, construction, steel, aluminum, electronics and chemicals industries.

Russians Push Demand For Berlin Air Rights

POLITICAL UNITY URGED FOR EUROPE

BADEN-BADEN, Germany (UPI) — West German Chancellor Adenauer and French President Charles de Gaulle warned today that Western Europe must press on to political unity because of unspecified "menacing dangers."

The conference was held under the watchful eyes of 400 riot police who patrolled the area against any attempt by Algerian extremists on de Gaulle's life.

ARROW LAKE PROTEST:

'Trying to Up Value of Land'

OTTAWA (CP) — The Senate committee on land use agreed tentatively today to seek authority to send members across the country making on-the-spot investigations of land conservation.

RAILWAY ENGINEERS BACK STRIKE

MONTREAL (CP) — Engineers of Canada's two major railways have voted by more than 90 per cent for a strike if necessary to back contract demands, it was announced today.

No strike date was set and union spokesman O. J. Travers said the union's negotiating committee "sincerely hopes" that no strike will be necessary.

Oral Polio Vaccine Here Soon

OTTAWA (CP) — Oral polio vaccine made from live virus is expected to be licensed for manufacture in Canada within a few weeks, health department officials said here today.

Barling, an untested vaccine, the live, orally-taken vaccine should be available in quantity to help fight the disease before the start of the polio season in June or early July.

Health officials said recent research has resulted in the development of a method to remove a harmless impurity from the vaccine being developed in Canada.

Federal health officials are hopeful that when licensees are granted that the vaccine to be produced in Canada will be for protection against the three types of poliomyelitis.

The United States last August issued licenses for the manufacture of Sabin live-virus vaccine but it is for protection against only one of the three types of polio. The American vaccine provides protection against type 1 polio which is responsible for between 60 and 70 per cent of all paralytic polio cases.

CLAIMS COPPER THREAT
Tshombe told the assembly: "The state department is in the hands of greedy financiers who will never stop their activities as long as the Congo is not a colony under their economic domination and until Katanga's copper is eliminated from world competition."

KILLED

Assistant military attaché at the U.S. embassy in Leopoldville, The Congo, Lt. Col. Hulen Stogner, 39, of El Paso, Texas, was shot to death Wednesday night as he lay on his bed reading. See story Page 16. (AP Wirephoto.)

The whole question of the Berlin corridor seems to be up in the air.

Them Algerians don't seem to care whether they take time out to declare war or just go on fighting it.

What they call the high schools is really a secondary consideration.

DEATH WATCH

DIEF WOULDN'T FISH FOR IT

Historic Document Went Into Ashcan

MONTREAL (CP) — Prime Minister Diefenbaker said Wednesday night the presence of television cameras may have robbed Canada of a major historical document.

He said the opportunity arose in 1945 when he was present at San Francisco during the drafting of the United Nations charter.

The former South African prime minister, Jan Christian Smuts, had written the first draft on the back of a cigarette package. When he presented the typed version—substantially unchanged—he threw the package in a waste basket.

"It was surely one of the world's greatest documents," said the prime minister, "and I wanted to have it badly. But the TV cameras were on us and I felt it would be undignified for a representative of Canada—and a non-smoker at that—to be televised rooting in a rubbish basket."

Mr. Diefenbaker, then a member of the Progressive Conservative opposition, was a member of the Canadian delegation at the conference.

'Reckless Flying' West Charges

BERLIN (Reuters) — Russian fighter planes buzzed Western civil and military aircraft today in what was viewed as an attempt to enforce a renewed Soviet claim to certain exclusive rights in air corridors to West Berlin.

Well-informed western sources said "the Russians were flying recklessly."

"They did aerobatics, circled around our planes in formation and definitely harassed our flights," the sources said.

A Western statement said Soviet fighter planes not only approached military and civil aircraft but flew close to planes at altitudes other than those the Russians were trying to reserve.

PROTESTS SHOOTING

Meantime, French commandant Gen. Jean Lacomme said French forces henceforth would back up West Berlin police returning fire of East German border guards. He protested to Soviet Berlin commandant Col. Andrei Soloviev against the East German fire.

The Western statement on air corridor developments said the Russians demanded exclusive use of a "block of air space" up to 7,000 feet from 9 a.m. to 1:15 p.m. local time.

It described the demand as illegal and said Russian authorities would be held responsible for the safety of Western flights, which, it said, are continuing in accordance with "agreed rules."

FRENCH TAKE PART

Lacomme's protest followed an incident two days ago when French gendarmes were sent to the East German border following an exchange of shots between East and West Berlin police. There were no casualties in the exchange.

Passengers in a Pan-American airliner on the Frankfurt-Berlin run reported seeing Soviet military aircraft but the planes made no attempt to interfere with the airliner.

Protests from the United States, Britain and France against Soviet bids for exclusive use of parts of the corridor were delivered in Moscow.

Sources said the protests dealt with the whole situation arising from Soviet requests that parts of the three air corridors to Berlin should be reserved at specific times for Russian planes.

The three corridors—Berlin-Hamburg in the north, Berlin-Hannover in the centre and Berlin-Frankfurt in the south—each are 20 miles wide. They remain the only communication links between Berlin and the outside world not controlled by East Germany.

Russia has asked for exclusive use of part of the corridor five times in the last week. All the requests were promptly turned down by the allies.

Canada Rotates Troops

OTTAWA (CP) — The Canadian government today signified its belief that the Berlin situation has improved by approving the rotation of two infantry battalions between Canada and Europe.

The rotation of the 1st Battalion of the Black Watch in West Germany and the regiment's 2nd battalion at Camp Gagetown, N.B., was deferred last August because of the Berlin situation.

Defence Minister Harkness said at that time it was desirable that there be a "minimum of disruption in the over-all efficiency of the brigade (in Europe) at this time."

Besides the rotation, dependents of some 1,100 soldiers and 250 airmen sent to Europe last fall as reinforcements now will be allowed to proceed overseas.

They had to remain in Canada because of the Berlin crisis.

FINISH BY MARCH

The rotation of the two battalions will be completed by the end of March, authorities said today.

Another factor in the government's decision was understood to be the fact that the 18-nation disarmament committee will meet at Geneva beginning March 14.

He Won't Change New Way of Life

ROCKFORD, Ill. (UPI) — A $150-an-hour factory laborer said today he's "not going to do a doggone thing" about the revelation that he used to be a college professor and research chemist.

The man known in Rockford as "Verne Hansen" looked himself up in his hotel room, turned his radio up loud, and refused to talk to reporters. He insisted he could remember nothing of his previous life as Dr. Carl Vernon Holmberg, research chemist and associate professor at the Syracuse University College of Forestry. (See people and things, page 2.)

UBC Engineers Fly High at U of W

SEATTLE (AP) — A banner marked "UBC Engineers" waved from the University of Washington's 112-foot flagpole Thursday in place of the usual Stars and Stripes and Washington State flag.

The "alien" flag was raised Tuesday night, presumably by unidentified pranksters. The University of Washington daily said the "UBC" apparently stands for University of British Columbia.

Whoever the flag raisers were, they displayed engineering skill. The rope was knotted so it could not be removed and the university had to hire steeplejack Al Minugh to climb the pole.

Minugh couldn't go up Wednesday because it was too windy. The pole sways nine feet in strong winds.

S. W. Hall, foreman of the university's janitorial department, was not amused. "This stunt," he said, "will cost the university over $100 in time and materials."

Centennial Flashback ...

THIS DAY IN VICTORIA - 1862

FEBRUARY 15

A brand-new packing press was unveiled by Sparborg and Goldstone, Yates Street. They claim it can compress a package of 150 pounds of drygoods or clothing into two cubic feet, while a similar quantity packed in the ordinary manner would take up as much as four cubic feet—thus saving for the customer in shipping charges, and, on the long haul to the Cariboo gold diggings, easier handling for the packer, and more comfort for the pack animal.

Capt. Ogilvie of the H.B. Co.'s schooner Mink was hauled into court for assaulting, some time ago, one John Godfrey, employed by the same company. Capt. Ogilvie apologized to the assaultee, and was fined one shilling.

Rev. E. Robson hopefully reported the temperance movement is gaining support, and that at a recent meeting "quite a few" people came forward and signed the pledge.

$60,000 Organ Arrives

UNEMPLOYED LOBBY COMING DESPITE BENNETT TURNDOWN

A spokesman for the Vancouver Unemployed Council said today, Premier Bennett has refused to meet a delegation of unemployed but the council will bring a lobby to Victoria just the same next Wednesday.

The spokesman said the premier's reply was received in answer to a request from the council that he and his cabinet meet a delegation of unemployed.

Installation of a new $60,000 pipe organ, shipped here from Ste. Hyacinthe, Quebec, was begun at St. John's Anglican Church today.

The new organ contains 3,300 pipes ranging in length from six inches to 19½ feet, and will take about seven weeks to assemble.

It replaces the valuable instrument destroyed by fire which swept through the old St. John's Church on Dec. 9, 1960, and was specially built for the new church by the St. Hyacinthe firm.

The dismantled parts were packed in crates and shipped across Canada by rail.

They travelled to Swartz Bay by ferry and were delivered to St. John's in heavy moving vans.

Unloading of the huge crates spoiled the stately atmosphere of St. John's Church this morning. They were scattered up and down the aisles, and scaffolding was erected on either side of the altar.

READY BY EASTER

"We hope the organ will be ready for use by Easter," said Jean Girouard of Ste. Hyacinthe, who is in charge of operations. "The organ took three months to build and is one of the finest of its kind in North America."

Unpacking of the organ parts was discontinued for half an hour this morning while Holy Communion was held in the new cream-walled chapel to the right of the altar.

The re-built church was dedicated by Archbishop Harold Sexton on Oct. 12 last.

SPEAKERS IN LEGISLATURE

Speakers in the legislature at Friday's 2 p.m. sitting include:

Mines Minister Kenneth Kiernan, Gordon Gibson (L-North Vancouver), Dan Campbell (SC-Comox) and Cedric Cox (NDP-CCF-Burnaby).

WINNER of first steelhead derby sponsored last Sunday by Nanaimo Fish and Game Club was Fred C. Withler, assistant director of Nanaimo Biological Station of Fisheries Research Board of Canada. His nine-pound six-ounce prize was taken from Nanaimo River. Sixteen fish were caught by 42 anglers. (Agnes Flett photo.)

grand prizes such as cruisers, cars and trips to foreign places.

Only one of three sports fishing authorities agreed with him. And only in part.

Gary Williams, president of the Victoria Fish and Game Protective Association, said: "We believe in conservation. We don't believe in derbies. We fish for the sport. We're not interested in a prize."

He didn't agree that derbies are depleting the fish population.

"One commercial troller will bring in as much fish in one haul as will 10,000 sports fishermen," he said.

Fishing guide Jim Gilbert of Brentwood, hotly disputed the MLA's statements.

Gilbert said that Saanich Inlet Anglers' Association and Saanich Inlet Boatmen's Association would file letters of protest to Tisdalle.

Gilbert added that the boatmen's group plans a one-day derby this year with all receipts going to the study of fish conservation and the possible restocking of Goldstream Park.

As for prizes, Gilbert said the last major fish derby which offered a substantial prize—an automobile—was held here in 1948.

"The idea today is to stage small derbies, preferably with merchandise prizes. For those with a large investment in boat and fishing gear, it's a matter of economic necessity to interest as many people as possible to fish in Greater Victoria. It's too easy for them to drive elsewhere."

Ron Ritchie, past president Lower Vancouver

Island Amalgamated Sportsmen's Association, said: "I don't believe it is poor sportsmanship to fish in derbies. I do feel it is poor sportsmanship for anyone to offer cash prizes."

"When a sports fisherman accepts cash, he's a commercial fisherman."

Ritchie also said: "One-day derbies are not hard on fish—we hold our derbies at night until 2 p.m., and the daily limit regulation keeps the catch down."

Commercial net fishing is still the most damaging to the fish population—"when they pull in their nets they often kill a great number of undersized fish."

Teamsters Protest Non-Union Contract

Others Underbid On Big Moving Job

'SCOUT WEEK' CEREMONY SET

Scout Week in Victoria will be opened Saturday at 10 a.m. with a flag-raising ceremony outside City Hall.

Mayor R. B. Wilson and regional president C. W. Nash will address an anticipated 400 boys from 18 Scout and Cub groups.

Following the addresses the flag will be raised by two Queen's Scouts.

The Scouts and Cubs will be drawn from troops and packs of the Camosun and Fort Victoria districts.

LEADERS APPROACHED

Local 885 of the General

Teamsters' Union addressed its complaint to Public Works Minister W. N. Chant, CCF, NDP leader Robert Strachan, Liberal leader Ray Perrault and The Victoria Daily Times.

"There were numerous bids submitted by fair companies to do this job," said R. Milliken, secretary of the local, "but the public works department saw fit to award the job to a non-union outfit."

A spokesman for one of the union companies said:

"Paying union wages, we could not possibly take on a job of this size for less than $5,000. In the Land Registry Office alone, there are 2,200 filing cabinets measuring 15 feet high."

CHARGE ANSWERED

To which a representative of Blue and White Transfer replied:

"We submitted what we thought was a fair price. Surely the government is entitled to accept the lowest bid. In any case, the job is now three-quarters completed."

In his protest to the government, Mr. Milliken said:

"The larger cartage companies in the Victoria area are the main users of the government ferries to and from the mainland, and we think the awarding of the contract should have taken this into consideration."

CLOSED ON FRIDAY

Transfer of deeds, legal documents and other records from the old Land Registry Office in the old courthouse will be completed this week and the office will close next Friday at 3 p.m.

The new land registry office will open next Monday at 10 a.m. It will be located on the ground floor and the entrance faces Church Street.

ASK The TIMES

Q. When was the lighthouse at the entrance to Esquimalt harbor built, what is its official name, and is it still in use at the present time for navigation purposes?

J.V.P.

A. The light on the port side of the entrance to Esquimalt harbor is known as the Figgard Light. It still is used by the navy for navigational purposes, and is now an automatic light, the keeper having been removed about 20 to 30 years ago. The light was built in 1861.

Q. Please tell me if it is necessary to have a minister, or any one else other than the undertakers, at one's funeral?

S.

A. A minister need not be present.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem along to The Times, addressed to "Ask the Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily.

All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve conundrums or legal problems. Nor will it attempt to put a value on old coins, stamps or antiques. These should be submitted to a dealer.

WHEN LEASE DIES

Crystal Garden Park Urged

City finance committee today indicated the city may establish a small downtown park behind the Crystal Garden when lease on the property runs out in two years.

The city owns the land on which the Crystal Garden stands and about one acre behind it.

The company's lease expires Dec. 31, 1964, which will revert all the land and the building to the city unless a renewal is negotiated and signed.

City officials expect the CPR will wish to renew its lease in order to hang on to the Crystal Garden but several indicated that they felt the city should take back the acre of land, bounded by the rear of the Crystal Garden, Blanshard and Belleville Streets.

CLUBHOUSE SUGGESTED

"It would be an opportunity to establish a downtown park," said Mayor R. B. Wilson. "It would be very nice in that area when the high-rise apartments go up there."

Ald. A. I. Curtis agreed, suggesting the city could build a clubhouse and take over the lawn-bowling greens forming part of the property to provide public bowling.

Discussion arose from a Canadian Pacific Lawn Bowling and Social Club request for city assistance in persuading the CPR to permit it to maintain its clubroom in the Crystal Garden.

SPACE FOR WAXWORKS

The company wants the club to vacate the room by the end of this month to provide space for expansion of the waxworks museum.

Committee appointed Mayor Wilson, Ald. Arthur Dowell and Mrs. C. C. Watt as a delegation to discuss the situation with CPR officials.

Ald. Dowell pointed out the city had given the company many concessions in the past and it might be able to induce the CPR to allow the bowling club to retain its present quarters until the current lease runs out in 1964.

He pointed out one of the terms of the CPR lease was that it maintain a "warm salt water" swimming pool in Crystal Garden but the city had allowed substitution of fresh water a few years ago when the salt water system became outmoded.

Unitarian Group Urgently Needs Refugee Clothing

The Unitarian Service Committee of Canada has issued an urgent appeal for warm clothing to be sent to refugees in the Gaza strip.

After an "all-out campaign" the USC hopes to be able to ship 30,000 pounds of clothing to the Middle East trouble spot where thousands of Arab and other refugees huddle with little to ward off the bitter winds and driving rain.

Any form of warm clothing suitable for men, women, boys, girls or babies in reasonable repair can be sent to Dowell's Cartage and Storage, 1117 Wharf Street, where volunteers will sort and pack donations for shipping.

CITY BUSINESSMAN William W. Lewis, 3270 Woodburn, has been named chairman of the Victoria branch, Canadian Red Cross Society, annual fund drive. Local objective for the campaign, which will run from March 1 to 31, is $79,000.

Cyclist's Death Ruled Accident

A coroner's jury took only four minutes today to rule Victoria's first traffic fatality as accidental.

Exonerated of all blame in the Tuesday morning death of 13-year-old Gerald Griffin was Victoria College student Gordon Burleson, 18.

The six-man jury listened to the testimony of eight witnesses and the driver before making its decision.

The accident occurred 35 feet east of Cook on Pandora Avenue at 8:16 a.m. Tuesday.

Young Griffin, 2221 Lydia, was riding a bicycle when he collided with the student, Burleson, of 1344 Thurlow.

BOTH STUDENTS

Both were on route to their respective schools at the time. Dr. Ross McNeely, pathologist at Royal Jubilee Hospital, said the youngster died from hemorrhaging into the brain as a result of a fractured skull.

The boy's grandfather, William Rowlandson, 2221 Lydia, identified the body.

He said that his grandson had not ridden his bicycle to school for two months previous to the accident, as it had been under repair.

Witness to the accident Ray Williams, 3075 Larkdowne, told the jury he saw the boy dart out of a driveway on the north side of Pandora.

"I could see he was going to be hit," he said, "as he was crossing the street, against the light, at a fair speed."

Williams estimated the speed of Burleson's car at no more than 30 mph.

This was substantiated by B.C. Electric bus driver Gunter Vieweg, 1000 Tillikum Road, who said the college student was proceeding at about 25 mph.

Judy Harding, 16, 141 Kamloops, said she did not see the collision but did notice the boy on the bicycle just previous to the accident.

BICYCLE SWERVED

"I saw the boy dart out of the driveway," she said. "It seemed as if he had lost control of the bike, the way he swerved."

A second teen-ager, 14-year-old Inke Shoeman, 930 Balmoral, described what she saw to the jury.

"I was on the way to school when I turned and happened to see a bicycle shoot out from the driveway on Pandora. The boy was dragged by the car when he was hit. It all happened so fast."

William Winther, 2631 Mount Stephen, said he heard the crash and then saw the driver get out of his car to aid the youngster, but admitted he had not seen the initial impact.

All witnesses described the weather as clear but said the road was wet at the time. There were different opinions on the amount of traffic near the intersection at the time.

IN PROPER LANE

Traffic officer William Somerville said the initial impact was 35 feet from the intersection and that the bicycle was lying 79 feet from here when it came to rest.

Burleson said he did not see the boy until he was about 20 feet away.

"He came from behind a parked truck. As soon as I saw him I put on my brakes and swerved. We hit and the bike, the boy, and my car headed in one direction. Then they flew off."

According to witnesses, Burleson was in his proper lane, and police said his car brakes were in good shape.

Boy Struck By Car Near Death Scene

A three-year-old boy was hurt Wednesday when he was struck by a car while riding his tricycle just a few blocks from the spot where another youngster died in a similar accident a day earlier.

Christopher Ebdon, the son of Mrs. Patricia Ebdon, 1323 Stanley, was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital with shock and bruises and later released.

The mishap occurred at the intersection of Pandora and Stanley at about 4:15 p.m.

On Tuesday, 13-year-old Gerald Griffin was killed after he was in collision with a car at Pandora and Cook as he rode to school on a bicycle.

OFF INTERSECTION

City police said the three-year-old was riding his tricycle "off the southeast corner of the intersection" when he was struck by a car driven by Edward Simpson, 1633 Redfern.

Miss Alice M. Atkins, 16 Obed, was treated for a sore neck at Royal Jubilee Hospital today following a rear-end car collision on Burnside.

Saanich police said Miss Atkins was heading west on Burnside when she stopped at the pedestrian crosswalk at the intersection with Orillia and her car was struck in the rear by another driven by George Cotterill, 785 Burnside West.

Total damage sustained by both vehicles was $200, police said.

Esquimalt Ships Reach Singapore On Asian Cruise

The Esquimalt-based destroyer escorts, Assiniboine, Margaret and Ottawa have arrived in Singapore in the course of a three-month cruise of Asian waters.

The DEs left here Jan. 15 under the command of Captain Victor Browne and are due back in harbor April 19.

The combined goodwill and training cruise is the first made by RCN ships to those waters in many years. The sub-killers have been exercising with United States and Commonwealth squadrons.

CONSENSUS-FISHING DERBIES GOOD FOR SPORT, FISH

Tisdalle Dead Wrong Say Piscatorial Experts

By HAL MALONE

Fishing derbies do not deprive a fisherman of his sportsman's status nor result in the depletion of fish.

This was the majority reaction of sports fishing authorities today to a claim by Saanich Social Crier John Tisdalle that derbies are ruining both sport and salmon.

"Sports fishing is overdone by derbyism," Tisdalle told the legislature Wednesday. "Something should be done about it."

Tisdalle said far too much emphasis is placed on prizes. If a fisherman is really a sportsman "he doesn't need grand prizes such as cruisers, cars and trips to foreign places."

Only one of three sports fishing authorities agreed with him. And only in part.

Gary Williams, president of the Victoria Fish and Game Protective Association, said: "We believe in conservation. We don't believe in derbies. We fish for the sport. We're not interested in a prize."

He didn't agree that derbies are depleting the fish population.

"One commercial troller will bring in as much fish in one haul as will 10,000 sports fishermen," he said.

Fishing guide Jim Gilbert of Brentwood, hotly disputed the MLA's statements.

"Irrational... a detriment to tourism," said Gilbert. "When he says the stocks are depleted drastically, he's talking through his hat."

"Saanich Inlet isn't an enclosure—fish are constantly moving in and out. There has been a slight decrease in our catch. Once you only had to throw a brass spoon in and you had a fish. You have to use bait and give it more effort today."

Gilbert said that Saanich Inlet Anglers' Association and Saanich Inlet Boatmen's Association would file letters of protest to Tisdalle.

Gilbert added that the boatmen's group plans a one-day derby this year with all receipts going to the study of fish conservation and the possible restocking of Goldstream Park.

As for prizes, Gilbert said the last major fish derby which offered a substantial prize—an automobile—was held here in 1948.

(SHORT SUBJECT) "TOP OF A CONTINENT": An eye-opening color film covering man's development among the icy wastes of the Northwest Territories will be available for showings by schools and interested private organizations by the end of March, with about five or six prints available in British Columbia.

This was learned Tuesday afternoon from G. David Webster, public relations manager for the Shell Oil Company of Canada, Ltd., Vancouver, at a private showing before representatives of education, the press, radio and television at the Empress Hotel.

The 38-minute 16-mm short that was two years in the making by Crawley Films Ltd., Ottawa, on behalf of Shell may, when ready, be had on free loan from Shell Film Library, Box 2211, Vancouver.

Imagination is the keynote of the production that is the result of camera crews ranging a total distance of more than 75,000 miles, mostly by aircraft, focusing on wild life, on the awesome reaches of ice and snow that create their own particular brand of magic from Frobisher Bay in the east to Aklavik in the west.

As has always been the case in Canada since its beginning, the search for wealth and necessities of civilization leads to exploration and settlements which, as far as today's northland is concerned, may hold the key to whether or not Canada will become the great world power of visions.

As Shell prospects for what it needs there is every indication that beneath the surface and beneath the Territories — covering one-sixth of North America — lies cobalt, copper, gold, uranium and oil. The amazing growth that follows such explorations can be seen in the changed lives of the Eskimo and Indian.

Schools, stores, airfields, modern sewage and heating plants have sprung up to test to what is happening.

Where once there was only the sounds of nature, such as the surge of spring ice down the Mackenzie River, there is now the drone of the bush plane, the diesel tractor and the voices of civilized man as he tries to tame the untamed.

Campobello Island, New Brunswick, in the Bay of Fundy, long the summer home of the late Franklin Roosevelt, is only a mile from the U.S. shore.

NEW BERLIN AIR CRISIS

Canada Will Rotate Troops in Europe

TWO BATTALIONS
ENGAGED IN MOVE

OTTAWA (CP)—The Canadian government today signified its belief that the Berlin situation has improved by approving the rotation of two infantry battalions between Canada and Europe.

The rotation of the 1st Battalion of the Black Watch in West Germany and the regiment's 2nd battalion at Camp Gagetown, N.B., was deferred last August because of the Berlin situation.

Defence Minister Harkness said at that time it was desirable that there be a "minimum of disruption in the overall efficiency of the brigade (in Europe) at this time."

Besides the rotation, dependents of some 1,100 soldiers and 250 airmen sent to Europe last fall as reinforcements now will be allowed to proceed overseas.

They had to remain in Canada because of the Berlin crisis.

FINISH BY MARCH

The rotation of the two battalions will be completed by the end of March, authorities said today.

Another factor in the government's decision was understood to be the fact that the 18-nation disarmament committee will meet at Geneva beginning March 14.

ARROW LAKE PROTEST:

'Trying to Up
Value of Land'

OTTAWA (CP)—The Senate committee on land use agreed tentatively today to seek authority to send members to investigate the Arrow Lake area.

But the committee split on whether its first spot check should be in the Arrow Lake district of British Columbia, where the proposed Columbia River power development will flood large tracts of farm and orchard land.

Senator Donald Cameron (L-Alberta) first proposed the committee seek general roving powers, but later agreed to meet with the committee chairman, Senator Arthur M. Pearson (PC-Saskatchewan) to work out a more precisely worded resolution. It will go before the next meeting of the committee.

Senator S. J. Smith (L-British Columbia) said the committee should not involve itself in the controversial Columbia River and High Arrow dam proposal at the present time.

There was a considerable effort being made to stir up discontent in the Arrow Lakes district in an effort to raise the expropriation value of the land, he said. He had visited the valley during the Christmas-New Year holiday and found "a dilapidated collection of farm buildings," and "the majority of the people are only hoping the government will take them over and pay for them."

Senator Cameron said the Senate committee should send its members to look at the Columbia development, even if they produced a report that would be politically unpopular.

Senator Austin Taylor (L-New Brunswick) said that flooding the land would be "one of the greatest crimes ever perpetrated" in Canada and that the land resources of the valley are "there for all time," and should be protected.

Senator Byron Hoyer (PC-Saskatchewan) said too much attention was being paid to the Arrow Lakes flooding. Much more land and much more valuable land was flooded in the St. Lawrence Valley by the sea-way development, and there is still a lot of good fruit land in British Columbia which has not been developed.

WEATHERMAN
BESTS MACHINE

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Weatherman Emil Kurtz today claimed a one-round knockout over an IBM weather information computer as rain began falling throughout Southern California.

The battle of the brain versus transistor began Tuesday when Kurtz, seated at the Los Angeles weather bureau, predicted an approaching storm would strike the area and might bring considerable rain.

The weather bureau computer in Washington almost flipped its switch at the forecast and said the storm would swing to the north and bypass Southern California.

"I don't think I'm smarter than the IBM, but it's in Washington and I am here," said Kurtz between showers.

U.S. Wins In UN Cuba Vote

UNITED NATIONS (CP)—The United Nations political committee today overwhelmingly rejected a Cuban-backed resolution calling on the United States to halt alleged interference in the internal affairs of Cuba.

The action of the 104-nation committee was a clear-cut victory for the U.S. which had denied any meddling in Cuban affairs and vigorously opposed UN action.

Mafia Moving Into Canada Crime

TORONTO (CP)—The Telegram says the "notorious Mafia or Black Hand Society" controls big crime syndicates in large Canadian cities.

In a dispatch from Ottawa, the paper says Commissioner C. W. Harvison of the RCMP confirmed today that this secret international organization has been making inroads into Canada's crime syndicates.

B.C. Towboat Workers Get Raise

OTTAWA (UPI)—Labor Minister Starr today announced settlement of a labor dispute between the Canadian Merchant Service Guild and the British Columbia Towboat Owners' Association of Vancouver.

The 650 persons involved will receive a three per cent wage boost retroactive to Oct. 1 and a further three per cent effective Oct. 1, 1963.

Tshombe Blasts
U.S. 'Financiers'

ELISABETHVILLE (Reuters)—The Katanga provincial assembly today passed a resolution-studded motion accepting the Katanga declaration to end Katanga's secession from the Congo.

The motion called on Katanga's government to approach the Leopoldville central government to arrange a peaceful solution of the nation's problems.

The motion approved the two-month-old Katanga declaration, signed by Katanga President Moïse Tshombe and Congo Premier Cyrille Adoula, only with a considerable number of conditions and reservations.

During the debate, Tshombe violently attacked the United States, whose ambassador to the Congo, Edmund Guillon, played a key role in bringing Tshombe and Adoula together in Katanga in December.

"Under the mask of the United Nations," charged Tshombe, "we discover the methods of the Americans, who financed and still finance war and disorders in Katanga."

The motion was drawn up by the assembly's political and foreign affairs committees after lengthy discussions with UN legal adviser Constantin Stavropoulos.

CLAIMS COPPER THREAT
Tshombe told the assembly: "The state department is in the hands of greedy financiers who will never stop their activities as long as the Congo is not a colony under their economic domination and until Katanga's copper is eliminated from world competition."

Strikes
Tie Up
Algiers

ALGIERS (Reuters)—

Rail, gas and electricity workers went on strike here as violence again broke out in Algiers today.

The strikes were called to protest the killing of European public service employees earlier this week and to demand more protection from security forces. Three thousand persons followed the funeral procession Wednesday of a utility worker killed by Moslem insurgents Monday.

Shots from a speeding car in Algiers badly wounded a Moslem motorcyclist today following large-scale violence between European communal clashes Wednesday.

Thirty-three persons died and 86 were injured in Moslem-European communal clashes mainly in Oran and Algiers, the country's two largest cities. Twenty-one of the dead were Moslems.

The death toll was only exceeded by that of Jan. 3, when a riot in violence broke out of Algerian independence claims and European opposition to them. Every day since the New Year has seen its list of dead and injured in communal trouble.

ATTACK MOSLEMS

Europeans in the Belcourt suburb of Algiers poured out of their houses and attacked Moslems indiscriminately Wednesday night after a car sped through a main street spraying bullets that killed two persons and wounded three.

Five Moslems were injured by the rioters and a Moslem shot two of them dead.

Oral Polio Vaccine
Here Soon

OTTAWA (CP)—Oral polio vaccine made from live virus is expected to be licensed for manufacture in Canada within a few weeks, health department officials said here today.

Raising unforeseen complications, the live, orally-taken vaccine should be available in quantity to help fight the disease before the start of the polio season in June or early July.

Health officials said recent research has resulted in the development of a method to remove a harmless impurity from the vaccine being developed in Canada.

Federal health officials are hopeful that when licenses are granted that the vaccine to be produced in Canada will be for protection against the three types of poliomyelitis.

The United States last August issued licenses for the manufacture of Sabin live-virus vaccine but it is for protection against only one of the three types of polio. The American vaccine provides protection against type 1 polio which is responsible for between 60 and 70 per cent of all paralytic polio cases.

'Reckless Flying
By Soviet Jets'
West Charges

BERLIN (Reuters)—Russian fighter planes buzzed Western civil and military aircraft today in what was viewed as an attempt to enforce a renewed Soviet claim to certain exclusive rights in air corridors to West Berlin.

Well-informed Western sources said "the Russians were flying recklessly."

"They did aerobatics, circled around our planes in formation and definitely harassed our flights," the sources said.

A Western statement said Soviet fighter planes not only approached military and civil aircraft but flew close to planes at altitudes other than those the Russians were trying to reserve.

Meantime, French command forces henceforth would back up West Berlin police returning fire of East German border guards. He promised to Soviet Berlin commandant Col. Andrei Soloviev against the East German fire.

The Western statement on air corridor developments said Soviet planes were demanding exclusive use of a "block of air space" up to 7,000 feet from 9 a.m. to 1.15 p.m. local time.

It described the demand as illegal and said Russian authorities would be held responsible for the safety of Western flights, which, it said, are continuing in accordance with "agreed rules."

FRENCH TAKE PART

Lacommie's protest followed an incident two days ago when French gendarmes were sent to the East German border following an exchange of shots between East and West Berlin police. There were no casualties in the exchange.

Passengers in a Pan-American airliner on the Frankfurt-Berlin run reported seeing Soviet military aircraft but the planes made no attempt to interfere with the airliner.

Protests from the United States, Britain and France against Soviet bids for excessive use of parts of the corridors were delivered in Moscow.

Sources said the protests dealt with the whole situation arising from Soviet requests that parts of the three air corridors to Berlin should be reserved at specific times for Russian planes.

The three corridors—Berlin-Hamburg in the north, Berlin-Hannover in the centre and Berlin-Frankfurt in the south—each are 20 miles wide. They remain the only communications link between Berlin and the outside world, not controlled by East Germany.

Russia has asked for exclusive use of part of the corridors five times in the last week. All the requests were promptly turned down by the West.

DIEF WOULDN'T FISH FOR IT

Historic Document
Went Into Ashcan

MONTREAL (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker said Wednesday night the presence of television cameras may have robbed Canada of a major historical document.

He said the opportunity arose in 1945 when he was present at San Francisco during the drafting of the United Nations charter.

The former South African prime minister, Jan Christian Smuts, had written the first draft on the back of a cigarette package. When he presented the typed version—substantly unchanged—he threw the package in a waste basket.

"It was surely one of the world's greatest documents," said the prime minister, "and I wanted to have it badly. But the TV cameras were on us and I felt it would be undignified for a representative of Canada—and a non-smoker at that—to be televised rooting in a rubbish basket."

Mr. Diefenbaker, then a member of the Progressive Conservative opposition, was a member of the Canadian delegation at the conference.

UBC Engineers
Fly High at U of W

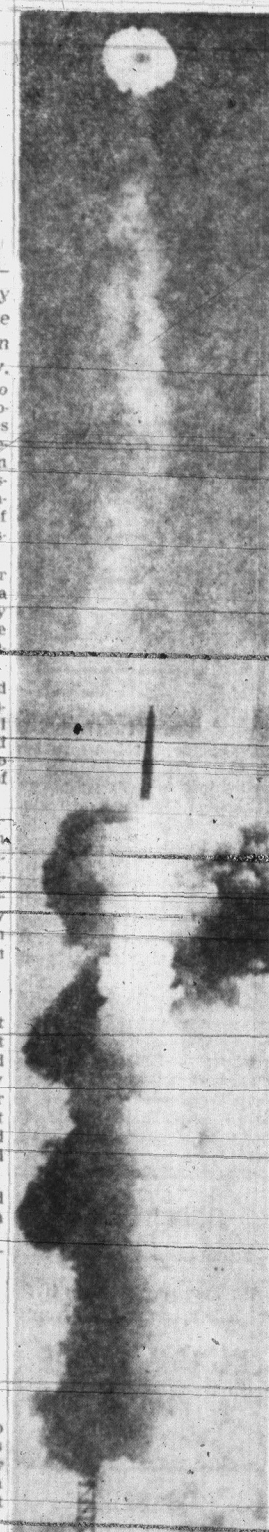

SEATTLE (AP)—A banner marked "UBC Engineers" waved from the University of Washington's 112-foot flagpole Thursday in place of the usual Stars and Stripes and Washington State flag.

The "alien" flag was raised Tuesday night, presumably by unidentified pranksters. The University of Washington daily said the "UBC" apparently stands for University of British Columbia.

Whoever the flag raisers were, they displayed engineering skill. The rope was knotted so it could not be removed and the university had to hire steeplejack Al Minugh to climb the pole.

Minugh couldn't go up Wednesday because it was too windy. The pole sways nine feet in strong winds.

S. W. Hall, foreman of the university's janitorial department, was not amused. "This stunt," he said, "will cost the university over $100 in time and materials."

RAILWAY
BACK STRIKE

MONTREAL (CP)—Engineers of Canada's two major railways have voted by more than 90 per cent for a strike if necessary to back contract demands, it was announced today.

No strike date was set and union spokesman O. J. Travers said the union's negotiating committee "sincerely hopes" that no strike will be necessary.

THIS DAY IN VICTORIA - 1862

FEBRUARY 15

A brand-new packing press was unveiled by Spurborg and Goldstone, Yates Street. They claim it can compress a package of 150 pounds of dry goods or clothing into two cubic feet, while a similar quantity packed in the ordinary manner would take up as much as four cubic feet—thus savings for the customer in shipping charges, and, on the long haul to the Cariboo gold diggings, easier handling for the packer, and more comfort for the pack animal.

Capt. Ogilvie of the H.B. Co.'s schooner Mink was hauled into court for assaulting, some time ago, one John Godfrey, employed by the same company. Capt. Ogilvie apologized to the assaultee, and was fined one shilling.

Rev. E. Robson hopefully reported the temperance movement is gaining support, and that at a recent meeting, "quite a few" people came forward and signed the pledge.

He Won't Change New Way of Life

ROCKFORD, Ill. (UPI)—A $1.90-an-hour factory laborer said today he's "not going to do a doggone thing" about the revelation that he used to be a college professor and research chemist.

The man known in Rockford as "Verne Hansen" locked himself up in his hotel room, turned his radio up loud, and refused to talk to reporters. He insisted he could remember nothing of his previous life as Dr. Carl Vernor Holmberg, research chemist and associate professor at the Syracuse University College of Forestry. (See people and things, page 2.)

KILLED

Plan Urged to Keep Meat Packers

Agriculture Minister Frank Richter and Trade Minister Robert Bonner are jointly seeking action to preserve B.C.'s disappearing meat, packing and slaughtering industry.

Two big firms closed B.C. abattoirs last year, and a big meat packer was bought out by a competitor.

Mr. Richter told the legislature Wednesday that this had been "the most disturbing event ever recorded in our meat production industry."

It not only eliminated purchasers of B.C. livestock, but also cost hundreds of jobs.

ACTION STUDIED

"We recognize that many of the factors involved are beyond our control as a province, but we are examining closely the possibility that some action might be taken that will ensure no further reduction in the number of federally-inspected abattoirs now left," he said.

Mr. Richter also announced that the UBC department of dairy science in co-operation with his department will conduct a special study into milk quality and standards.

It will take two to three years, he said, and is aimed at solving problems of overproduction, and storage of dairy products.

Mr. Richter said he planned to introduce legislation at this session to allow co-operation with the federal government in its new agricultural rehabilitation and development program.

He said he had written federal agriculture minister Alvin Hamilton advising him of this and listing projects which could be done in B.C. under the scheme known as ARDA.

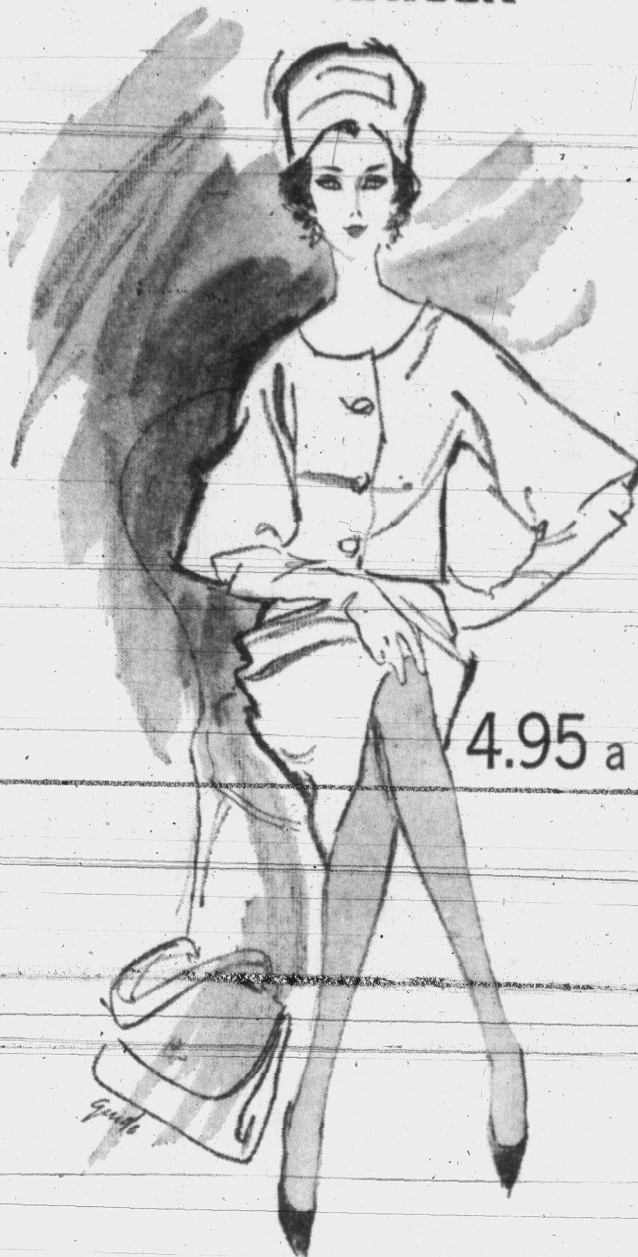

Mr. Richter said he asked for a conference to discuss details and cost-sharing. ARDA would provide aid for developing poor lands, drainage, irrigation and flood prevention.

Mr. Richter also said there would be some staff changes in his department this year "to better serve the industry as a whole." But he didn't elaborate.

Mr. Richter said that farm cash income in 1961 had topped $134,000,000. This was $4,000,000 more than the amount given in last week's budget because of more recent figures.

Mr. Richter said the final figure would be even higher when more statistics came in this spring.

Peace Talks Near Completion

PARIS (Reuters) — Secret Algerian peace talks going on since Sunday are expected to wind up tonight or Friday with an end in sight to the seven-year nationalist insurrection, sources close to the French government said today.

Canadian Trade Mission Going to Australia, N.Z.

OTTAWA (CP) — A 20-man trade mission representing nearly a dozen major Canadian industries will make a month-long tour of Australia and New Zealand in March and April, the trade department announced today.

It will be one of the strongest of the 22 trade missions being sent abroad by the government this year. Head of the mission is James Stewart, of Toronto, former chairman of the Canadian Bank of Commerce.

The mission will leave Vancouver by air March 10 and return April 8, visiting Canberra and six main commercial centres in Australia and three in New Zealand.

Among its members are presidents or senior officers of companies in the lumber, paper, fisheries, textile, construction, steel, aluminum, electronics and chemicals industries.

It also will include a trade union official, S. A. Stephens of Thorold, Ont., second vice-president of the International Brotherhood of Pulp, Sulphite and Paper Mill Workers (CLC).

The announcement said the mission will discuss opportunities for strengthening commercial ties with Australia and New Zealand, explore market possibilities, assess the implications of long-term growth in the economies of the two countries and gather information on special market requirements.

It will return the visit of an Australian trade mission which toured Canada in 1960.

Other members of the mission include: B. M. Hoffmeister, president, Council of British Columbia Forest Industries; G. S. Mayo, director, Commonwealth Pacific Timber Sales Limited; R. I. Nelson, vice-president, Nelson Bros. Fisheries Limited; all of Vancouver.

POLITICAL UNITY URGED FOR EUROPE

BADEN-BADEN, Germany (UPI) — West German Chancellor Adenauer and French President Charles de Gaulle warned today that Western Europe must press on to political unity because of unspecified "menacing dangers."

The conference was held under the watchful eyes of 400 riot police who patrolled the area against any attempt by Algerian extremists on de Gaulle's life.
